MARATHON HOPSCOTCH. This is what a world record attempt involves — rows of camp beds and sleeping bags, vast supplies of food and drink, and six exhausted 12-year-old girls. Two of them play hopscotch in the background, two wait their turn, sitting, while two colleagues rest up. The official timekeeper is on the right, and the brother-and-sister cheering section scattered around the booth. (Independent-Journal photo by Alfred M. Arn)

DELTA FLOOD FUNDS

A New Hopscotch Record

Six Kentfield girls broke the world marathon hopscotch record this weekend, by hopping continuously for 32 hours, exceeding the old record by two hours. And in the process they raised $431 for Sacramento Delta flood victims.

They began their attempt at 7:21 a.m. Saturday morning and stopped at 3:21 p.m. yesterday afternoon. Stopped is an understatement — they collapsed in crumpled heaps, according to Mrs. Marge Kaiser of 3 Oak Knoll, Kentfield, chief organizer of the event.

The girls, all 12 years old and entering seventh grade at Adeline E. Kent School in the fall, were Rowena Kaiser, Linda Fukumoto, Ann Toppell, Kim Belshe, Liz Penick and Annie Heller.

The record was set in the College of Marin parking lot next to Kentfield fire station. Four girls played all the time, with the other two getting an hour's rest at two-hour intervals.

"They never got any sleep all night," said Mrs. Kaiser today, "but they did rest. The parents set up camp beds and sleeping bags, and took turns watching over the kids in shifts."

"It wasn't easy, and by yesterday morning they were kind of hysterical and emotional. In the middle of the night, around 4 or 5 a.m. they were very depressed. But they never, ever, wanted to quit."

The girls ate enormous quantities of candy and high protein food, Mrs. Kaiser reported, and the record attempt turned into something of an anti-slumber party, with visitors playing the guitar.

After 24 hours of continual hopscotch the biggest problem was aching backs and tired legs. (The girls went straight home to bed yesterday afternoon and at 10 a.m. today were all reported still fast asleep.

Most of the charity donations came from pledges ranging from $1 an hour to 1 cent an hour, but an extra $43 was collected yesterday from visitors to the crafts and open market fair in the parking lot.

All the authentications and records of the marathon hopscotch will be sent to the Guinness Book of Records in London, said Mrs. Kaiser, and the girls are confident their feat will be recorded in the book next year.

EOC Has New Fund Shortage

The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council — already accused of misusing more than $100,000 — went into Marin Superior Court today to fight the threatened loss of its food stamp franchise because of a newly disclosed $36,000 shortage in deposits.

Judge David Menary Jr. took under submission an effort by the antipoverty agency to bar Betty Presley, director of the County Department of Public Social Services, from cutting it out of the food stamp program.

The agency's executive director, Alfred R. Conklin, said the food contract was with the Marin County Board of Supervisors so Miss Presley did not have the authority to end the contract.

She sent a letter to the agency last Tuesday purporting to end the contract, but the agency won a temporary stay from Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire late Friday.

The letter was mailed Tuesday after Marin officials learned about a federal audit of the program which showed $36,778 unaccounted for.

The Economic Opportunity Council, according to the audit, reported sales of $283,290 between its inception last June and April of this year, but the federal reserve received only $246,513.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino said it was not yet known where the money went or even if the agency is responsible for the shortage.

He said Marin County must make up the deficit, but the program is insured.

The shortage is the latest in a series of financial embarrassments for the antipoverty group.

Federal investigation of the agency revealed it had misused more than $100,000, including a grant ticketed for Orange County received by mistake in Marin.

Most of the money went to pay off previous operating deficits, but about $12,000 was used for personal expenses by then executive W. Robert Lomax Jr., who resigned during the investigation, and a top aide. Much of the $12,000 has been repaid.

As a result, the federal government is withholding $62,000 in future grants to make up the misused Orange County money and the Marin County Board of Supervisors has refused to give the agency any more funds.

The council office in San Rafael is one of 10 stamp distribu-

Judge Will Rule On McGovern Delegates

Daley Disbarment Will Also Be Decided Upon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Judge George L. Hart Jr. proposed to rule late today on two suits involving heated battles over the seating of Democratic convention delegates from California and Chicago.

Hart also said the U.S. Court of Appeals had arranged to hear both cases tomorrow whatever the outcome of his decision.

He made the announcement after hearing arguments from both sides in a move by supporters of Sen. George S. McGovern to prevent 151 California delegates from being unseated by the Democratic credentials committee. The Chicago dispute involved the disbarment of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and 58 delegates on his slate.

Joseph L. Rauh, arguing for McGovern, said the party's reform rules plainly allowed for winner-take-all primaries like that which gave McGovern 271 delegates from California in the June 6 primary.

Joseph A. Califano Jr., representing the Democratic National Committee named in the McGovern suit, argued that "the courts have no place in this arena on this kind of issue."

He said that if the court interferes in the matter, it might have on its hands most of the other 50 challenges decided on by the credentials committee.

"We could be here with anyone of them if the courts decide to get into this area," he told Hart.

Rauh also charged the committee illegally changed the credentials rules in stripping McGovern of the 151 California delegates.

"In view of the closeness of the race, those 151 can determine the outcome of the Convention," he declared.

"Now suddenly what was clear is to be changed," Rauh argued. "All of a sudden, after it was over, a challenge was filed."

The committee created an explosive controversy last week by voting to apportion the 271-member California delegation on the number of votes the candidates received and on that basis ruled in favor of 151 non-McGovern challengers.

Rauh, on behalf of McGovern's California supporters, filed suit asking that the action be reversed.

However, Hart commented during the court hearing: "It may not be cricket to change the rules, it may even be dirty pool, but is it unconstitutional?"

He also asked: "How far are the courts going to get into violations of party rules?"

McGovern finished first in the June 6 primary.

The committee decision could block a McGovern first ballot nomination at the convention, which starts in Miami Beach a week from today.

Hue Is Hit By Northern Rocket Fire

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist gunners fired 675 rocket, mortar and artillery rounds into Hue and its outer defenses today and two large, equally-matched units slugged it out with tanks and artillery north of the old imperial capital in a South Vietnamese attempt to recapture Quang Tri province.

A 20,000-man government force is driving north from Hue to try to take back Quang Tri—the only South Vietnamese province ever captured by the Communists.

With most of Hue's defenders sent north to try to recapture Quang Tri, Communists increased the pressure on the old imperial capital and threatened a long-expected, major attack on the city.

Field reports said 31 artillery rounds hit Hue and 644 other shells landed at the outlying bases.

In the air war over North Vietnam, the U.S. command said U.S. jet fighter-bomber pi-

Historic India, Pakistan Pact; New Era Of Peace?

SIMLA, India (UPI)—Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and Pakistani President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto signed an agreement today hopefully bringing to an end a 25-year-old era of conflict which has led to two wars.

The agreement was signed in a five-minute ceremony at this Himalayan hill station 240 miles north of New Delhi. It capped five days of intense summit conference talks by the leaders of the two nations.

Under the agreement, India will return to Pakistan all territory lost along the "western front" during the two-week war which ended last December, except the areas along the Kashmir cease-fire line.

The agreement also calls for withdrawal of all troops from their mutual borders and renunciation of the use of force in settling future disputes.

Mormon Patriarch Smith Dies At 95

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Joseph Fielding Smith, 95-year-old patriarch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, died Sunday of a heart attack at his daughter's home.

Smith, spiritual leader for the world's 3 million Mormons, would have been 96 July 19.

"I guess it was just old age," said a church spokesman.

The spokesman said the church's Council of the Twelve Apostles would meet at 10 a.m. today to make funeral arrangements.

Smith, the 10th leader since the church was organized in 1830, succeeded the late David O. McKay on Jan. 23, 1970, at the age of 93.

He was born in Salt Lake on July 19, 1876, a son of Joseph F. Smith, sixth president of the church, and Julia Lambson Smith. His grandfather was Hiram Smith, patriarch to the church and brother of founder Joseph Smith.

Prior to becoming leader of the Mormons, Smith was a member of President McKay's first presidency. He had been a member of the Council

Twelve Apostles April 7, 1910, and was president of that body until April 12, 1951.

Smith, named assistant church historian in 1906, became historian and general recorder in 1921 and served in that position until he was called to the presidency.

He wrote more than 20 books on Mormon church history and doctrines.

Smith was known as a theological conservative and noted for his fundamentalist views. He appeared in public often up to the time of his death, speaking at temple dedications, university graduations and church conferences.

Smith outlived three wives, the first of whom he married in April of 1898. She was Louise Emyle Shurtliff, who died March 30, 1908.

He married his second wife, Ethel Georgina Reynolds, on Nov. 2, 1908, and she died Aug. 26, 1937.

His third wife, Jesse Evans, whom he married April 12, 1938, died Aug. 3, 1971. She had been a former operatic contralto and DEAD HIJACKER — An attempted take over of a Pan American 747 ended in death for Nguyen Thai Binh, shown next to the jumbo jet. He had asked to be taken to Hanoi but was subdued and fatally shot when the plane landed in Saigon. The only injuries in the event came when passengers hurried to leave the plane and at least one GI suffered a broken leg.

FORMER U.S. STUDENT

Hijack Attempt Ends In Death

SAIGON (UPI)—A month ago Nguyen Thai Binh graduated from the University of Washington with honors. Sunday he died attempting to hijack a Pan American 747 to North Vietnam with "bombs" made out of lemons.

The 24-year-old Vietnamese, an antiwar protester while in college, took a stewardess hostage while the plane with 149 persons aboard was on the last leg of its San Francisco-Guam-Manila-Saigon flight. He sent a note to the pilot, Capt. Gene Vaughn, demanding to be flown to Hanoi.

When Vaughn, 53, of Scottsdale, Ariz., did not immediately comply he sent another note written in his own blood saying "You have failed to comply with my first demand. The blood indicates how serious I am about being taken to Hanoi."

Instead, Vaughn brought the plane into Saigon airport and went back to negotiate with Binh. At a press conference later he told what happened:

"When we landed at Saigon airport I told the military under no circumstances to allow the aircraft to depart. I'd already made my decision.

"The man was standing in the rear most part of the airplane holding one of the stewardesses hostage. He said, 'Don't come any closer because if you do I'll blow this airplane up.'

"I told him, 'We have a language problem. I can't understand you too well. Let me come closer.' I moved about two feet closer and saw my opportunity to jump him."

Vaughn, a 200-pounder, grabbed Binh and several other passengers rushed to his help.

"I shouted 'Kill the son of a bitch!' and the passenger put five bullets into him right there while I was holding him by the throat," Vaughn said.

"I want to tell you something," Vaughn added. "I took that fellow by the back of his neck and legs and threw him right out of that aircraft. He was already dead. We knew that."

"I just felt it was offensive to have him anywhere near that plane. I must have had the strength—I felt he had the weight of a Ping-Pong ball when I threw him out."

The passenger who shot Binh at close range with the high-powered .357-magnum pistol was not identified, but he was believed to be a former San Francisco area policeman en route to Vietnam to work as a security guard with an American firm. Vaughn said the passenger had checked his pistol when boarding the plane but was given it back when the hijacking started.

Binh had a knife with a 10-inch blade and two lemons wrapped in tinfoil which he said were bombs. Vaughn said that Binh told him he was taking the plane to Hanoi as an act of revenge because "your bombers have wrought havoc on our people."

The stewardess held Binh, May Huen, said later "the hijacker was very nice to me...I felt sorry to see him ended in such a disastrous way."

The Pound Beginning To Find Level

LONDON (UPI)—The pound began its second week aloft today, much where it grounded on Friday, at $2.425, and observers here and on the continent said it now must be close to finding its level.

"The Bank of England will talk on or tomorrow have to decide when and at which point they will steady the pound, directly or indirectly," the Union Bank of Switzerland said.

Dealers said the market remains very thin, and business is inhibited by the approach of Tuesday's Independence Day holiday in the United States.

In Zurich the Swiss National Bank entered the exchange market to support the dollar and the American currency immediately rose to 3.75 Swiss francs.

The bank had refused to buy dollars on the official market since the pound was floated by the British government.

SEVEN DEATHS

One Of Bloodiest Weekends In Belfast

BELFAST (UPI)—One of the bloodiest weekends of Ulster violence pushed the death toll today to 400 for the three years of Northern Ireland terror and threatened to smash the week-old cease-fire.

Police said two bullet-riddled and hooded bodies were discovered in Belfast today, bringing to seven the number of persons killed in gunbattles or executed by militants this weekend.

The body of a man was found in a car abandoned near Belfast's Crumlin Road jail before dawn, and a passerby on his way to work in the same area found the body of a young man dumped in Twickenham Street.

Police said they also were on the lookout for a man who may be still another execution victim — Augustus (Gusty) Spence, a 39-year-old Protestant who had been serving a life sentence for murdering a Roman Catholic bartender in 1966. Gunmen kidnapped Spence Sunday night as he was returning to jail from a two-day parole granted to allow him to attend his daughter's wedding and visit his ailing mother.

Both the IRA and the British army emphasized they considered the cease-fire still in force despite the heavy gun battle Sunday morning in Belfast's Old Park area and fresh outbursts early today between Protestants, Catholics and troops across the M1 superhighway leading to Dublin.

Children playing soccer found the bodies of two Protestants Sunday night on a cricket ground in Belfast's Old Park district, near the scene of an early morning fight between Protestants, Catholics and British troops.

Like an unidentified body of a man dumped from a car soon afterward in the Forth River area of west Belfast, they had been shot through the head, the hallmark of extremist executions.

Two more victims of the first weekend since the Irish Republican Army (IRA) declared a cease-fire last Monday were Daniel Hayes, 43, a Catholic, and Paul Jobling, a 19-year-old Jehovah's Witness from England who had been doing voluntary work at a Belfast camp for poor children.

The wave of killings occurred as the Protestant paramilitary Ulster Defense Association (UDA) created the first barricade Protestant "no go" areas in Northern Ireland in protest against the British army's failure to wipe out IRA-controlled Catholic "no-go" areas in Londonderry.

Nixon Begins Working On Campaign

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon, buoyed by polls showing him leading all his likely opponents, plans to leave the spotlight to the squabbling Democrats and spend the next two weeks quietly mapping his own reelection strategy.

White House aides said today he still would rely heavily for political advice on former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, who stepped down over the weekend as his campaign chief.

Mitchell, who engineered Nixon's successful 1968 effort and left the Justice Department several months ago to manage the campaign, resigned under pressure from his wife after she threatened to leave him if he didn't. He planned to return to his New York City law practice but will be available as a consultant.

The President Sunday conferred by telephone with both Mitchell and his successor, Clark MacGregor, a five-term congressman from Minnesota who lost a bid for the Senate in 1960 to Hubert Humphrey and has served on the White House staff since then as chief liaison with Congress.

Nixon was reported pleased by results of the latest Gallup and Harris polls which show him substantially ahead of all Democratic contenders. Aides said he planned to keep a low profile during the next two weeks in order not to detract public attention in anyway from the intraparty fighting among the Democrats.

The President arrived here Saturday for a 2-1/2 week stay at the Western White House. He was joined by two close personal friends, C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla., and Robert H. Abplanalp of Bronxville, N.Y.

The three flew to Los Angeles by helicopter Sunday night for dinner at a restaurant there. Mrs. Nixon, who attended a folk dance festival in Chicago Sunday, joined her husband at his ocean-side villa Sunday night.

Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon planned to spend most of his time meeting with Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, his chief foreign policy strategist, and other aides. Nixon and Kissinger will be conferring on the negotiating posture the United States will take when the Vietnam talks resume in Paris July 13.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Chichester Returns

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Francis Chichester sailed back to England today, ending a solo yachting attempt to America that turned into a voyage of sickness and appeals to God for help.

The 70-year-old yachtsman slipped into Plymouth harbor unnoticed in pre-dawn darkness aboard his crippled 57-foot ketch Gipsy Moth V.

The crowds that gathered to welcome the old man home from his battle with the sea were told by a spokesman for Plymouth's Royal Western Yacht Club: "He doesn't want to be disturbed — he's probably asleep."

Chichester, still weak after a months-long fight against a blood ailment, sailed from Plymouth June 18 at the start of the Observer Singlehanded Transatlantic Yacht Race. He turned back after falling ill June 25 off the Azores. His son, Giles, 25, and a three-man British naval party helped sail Gipsy Moth V back.

Bonn Conference

BONN (UPI) — President Georges Pompidou of France flew into Bonn today for talks with Chancellor Willy Brandt on a possible new world monetary crisis and a European summit.

After his arrival at Bonn's Wahn Airport, the French president was flown by helicopter to the Palais Schaumburg, site of the chancellery, for a private talk with Brandt.

Government sources said money and a European summit would make the talks one of the most important ever held in a series of semi-annual consultations, as called for by the Franco-German treaty of friendship and cooperation.

New Cairo Exercise

CAIRO (UPI) — Egypt launched a diplomatic campaign today to explain its Middle East policy to leaders of 15 nations in Europe, the Arab world, South America and Australia.

A parliamentary delegation led by House Speaker Hafez Badawi left for Belgrade and talks with Yugoslav officials, the Middle East News Agency (MENA) said.

Other government representatives will shortly visit Italy, France, Britain, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Greece, East Germany, Brazil, Australia, Tunisia, Libya, Syria, Algeria and Kuwait.

Exam Ordered

ESSEN, Germany (UPI) — A court today ordered a medical examination for a former Nazi colonel charged with complicity in the murder of 350,000 European Jews and rescheduled his trial for July 11.

Horst Wagner, 65, a former liaison man between Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and SS Chief Heinrich Himmler said he was unable to stand trial because of sciatic pains.

The charges against Wagner, one-time leader of the Nazi foreign ministry's "Group Inland II," were lodged as early as 1967.

Wagner was scheduled to go on trial on May 29 but it was postponed when Wagner had to undergo eye surgery.

Hope Turns Serious

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Comedian Bob Hope turned serious last night, asking 12,000 persons to think of America with 196 candles on its birthday cake.

"And those 196 candles are the light of the world, pointing out to people everywhere that this country stands for freedom," Hope said. "Other nations which have many more candles on their birthday cakes can bask in the glow given off by America's light and her many accomplishments."

Hope headlined the fourth annual Stars and Stripes Show, featuring a host of stars of the entertainment and sports worlds. It will be shown on network television tomorrow.

Disgruntled Campers

GRANBY, Colo. (UPI) — Disgruntled youth, upset over the cold, damp weather, no entertainment and a limited water supply, began leaving the site of a Colorado "religious festival" faster than they were arriving yesterday, police said.

Colorado State Patrol Deputy Chief Richard Schippers estimated 20 persons were leaving Strawberry Lake, the high mountain peat bog where the festival is being held, to every one that is arriving.

Schippers flew over the site and estimated that about 8,000 people present. Originally, the sponsoring Rainbow Family of Living Light estimated 140,000 persons would attend.

Pre-Holiday Display

VINELAND, N.J. (UPI) — An explosion in two wooden frame storage sheds filled with gunpowder at a fireworks company provided an early Fourth of July fireworks display during the weekend.

Philip Girome, vice president of the Vineland Fireworks Co., said the resulting blaze caused an estimated $10,000 damage to the wholesale manufacturing and distribution firm's property. But he said it was not serious enough to halt scheduled fireworks shipments to nearby cities for July 4th celebrations.

4-Year-Old Is Shot, Killed By Passing Car

HAWAIIAN GARDENS, Calif. (UPI)—A 4-year-old girl playing in front of her home Sunday night was killed by a shotgun blast fired from a passing car.

Joyce Ann Huff was rushed to Pioneer Hospital where doctors fought to keep her alive, removing 40 pellets from her body and two from her brain. She died about one hour after the shooting.

Father Of Twins Is Given Award By ZPG Group

HONOLULU (UPI) — Frank Shivers, 29, father of 10-month-old twin boys, won first prize in a contest sponsored by Zero Population Growth.

"I feel fine," said Shivers a few hours after collecting the prize—a free vasectomy. He said the sterility operation Saturday was less painful than having a tooth pulled and it did not interfere with his daily work routine.

"My wife and I are glad I had it," he said. "I've been wanting one a long time."

Resume Relations

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and the Yemen Arab Republic officially have announced the resumption of diplomatic relations, severed during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

City Council Insurrection Looms To Consider On Convention Floor Moratorium

The San Rafael City Council will consider a request for a moratorium on development on Oak Hill at a meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

The Terra Linda Valley Property Owners Association has requested a postponement of rezoning in the area so that it can investigate the possibility of forming an assessment district to buy the property as open space according to William Bielser, assistant city manager.

He said the Terra Linda Corp. has proposed a 66-unit townhouse development for an 18-acre Oak Hill site.

Association Pres. R. K. Sullivan said that his group may follow the lead of Mont Marin homeowners, who are forming an assessment district to buy the balance of the Pimental Ranch as open space.

The council will also consider extending the city's four-month moratorium on undeveloped parcels of two acres or more, and will hear reports on the city's open space acquisition program.

GM Is Recalling Chevrolet Vegas For Axle Check

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Monday announced the recall of some 500,000 Chevrolet Vega subcompacts — virtually all 1971 and 1972 models on the road—to check for a defective rear axle shaft.

The company said the defective shafts could cause a locking to disengage, setting up a chain reaction that could cause the rear brakes to fail and ultimately cause the axles themselves to fall off.

Chevrolet said that 59 defective shafts have been reported. Two of the cases resulted in body damage to the vehicles but there have been no reported injuries, said the automaker, the nation's largest.

SANTA ROSA

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —One party leader says the consequences range from simple apathy to insurrection and violence if Sen. George McGovern is denied the presidential nomination because the Democratic convention took away 151 of his California delegates. (See another story, page 1.)

Another disconnected her telephone after receiving angry calls from citizens bitter at Sen. Hubert Humphrey and the Democratic credentials committee for, in effect, invalidating California's June 6 primary.

Some Californians are hinting at joining McGovern or another liberal in a third party movement.

"It will be worse than '68," says former state party chairman Charles Warren, who is neutral in the nomination race.

He expressed the growing fear of many prominent Democrats in the state with the biggest bloc of electoral votes—45, about 17 per cent of those needed to elect a president.

They see a potential correlation between 1968, a Democratic disaster year in California, and 1972.

In 1968, California delegates returned from the Chicago convention so embittered at what they considered "heavy handedness" and "the old politics" that few put out much effort for nominee Humphrey. Some did not even endorse him. Their antagonism permeated down into the grassroots and Humphrey lost the state, which is 3-2 Democratic in registration, by just 3 percentage points to native son Richard Nixon.

McGovern won 43.5 per cent

HERE'S HEALTH!

Over 30 Years Experience in Nutrition
by JUNE EMBURY

Mothers who want to breast feed their babies, but who are disturbed by the recent furor over cancer being caused by a virus passed on in mothers' milk, will be reassured to learn that: Two physicians from the National Cancer Institute oppose the professional urging that any mothers whose families had breast cancer should do bottle feeding instead. They say that mothers will be better off breast feeding and that there's no evidence that breast cancer is passed on via nursing. In fact, they say, those groups which nurse the most have low breast cancer rates.

The many recognized benefits of breast feeding, both nutritional and psychological, are so great that it would be tragic for a mother to avoid nursing because of theoretical propaganda which has now been found to have no scientific support whatsoever.

A glorious Fourth to mothers, babies and everyone!

Another Call In Martha's Ordeal

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell rejoices that her husband has gotten out of full time politics, but she still says she is a "political prisoner."

Mrs. Mitchell made another call to this reporter Sunday and gave her reaction to the announcement of her husband's resignation.

"Sure, that's what I wanted," she said when asked how she viewed the resignation.

But she spoke in a low voice, did not talk long, and hung up the telephone abruptly.

"I'm still a political prisoner," she said. "I can't talk long. I'm calling surreptitiously."

She said she was at the Washington Conference Thursday.

Mitchell, the former attorney general, said when he announced his resignation that he hoped to spend more time with his wife and their daughter. He will continue to work as a part-time adviser to the President's campaign, but the Mitchells are expected to move their residence back to New York City.

Mrs. Mitchell made public her unhappiness with her husband's political role in a telephone call to UPI on June 22.

On June 25, Mrs. Mitchell called UPI again, this time from the Westchester Country Club at Rye. She said she was leaving Mitchell "until he decides to leave" Nixon's reelection campaign. She complained about a security agent, who she said yanked the telephone out of the wall in California. She described herself as a "political prisoner."

A colorful native of Arkansas, Mrs. Mitchell, 53, rapidly became a public figure when her husband joined Nixon's cabinet in 1969. She spoke out on many issues, and the telephone became her trademark.

She was just another cabinet wife one day early in 1969 when she looked out the window of her Watergate apartment and saw antiwar demonstrators. In a television interview, she said the demonstrators looked like "Russian revolutionaries," and she quoted her husband to back up her views.

A little later she made a 2 a.m. telephone call to the Arkansas Gazette to blast Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

She became a Republican party star and a frequent performer at the party's fund-raising dinners.

Fischer's Time Runs Out In The Morning

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI) — Bobby Fischer's time runs out at 8 a.m. EDT today.

Fischer, the 29-year-old Brooklyn chess genius, must turn up in Reykjavik by then or lose the right to challenge Soviet titleholder Boris Spassky for the world championship, a match that has generated wide interest than any chess game in history.

Fischer, apparently bargaining for more money, was hiding out in New York while the great debate of "will he show up or won't he?" raged.

The 21-game series was to have started Sunday. But when Fischer didn't show the president of the International Chess Federation (FIDE), Dr. Max Euwe, announced that he was postponing the deadline until noon Tuesday (8 a.m. EDT). If Fischer does not appear for the drawing of lots scheduled for that time, he will be disqualified and lose his right to challenge the 35-year-old Russian for the world chess title.

In Hilversum, the Netherlands, Max Euwe told the Dutch radio in a telephone interview that neither the world federation nor Iceland was willing to accept Fischer's additional financial demands.

"However," Euwe said, "if the American Chess Federation would be willing to pay extra to Fischer, the world federation would not mind."

Euwe stressed that if this solution would be possible the world federation and the Icelandic chess federation would accept it but would be no parties to it.

An Icelandic friend of Fischer, Freystinn Thorbergsson, flew to New York Sunday to try to persuade the American grand master to return with him.

Alaska 'Borough' Becomes Biggest Governing Area

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI) — The 4,000 natives of Alaska's oil-rich North Slope, an 88,000 square mile area, had their own borough today—the largest local government in the United States.

The borough—similar to a county—was incorporated yesterday by Lt. Gov. H. A. (Red) Boucher, following last month's election vote by 430 Eskimos.

Boucher signed the certification papers for the $6.5 million area borough despite a two-time court challenge by seven oil companies to the legality of the election in five native villages.

Struggle Over Rifle Kills Novato Woman

A 42-year-old Novato woman was accidentally shot to death at 1:05 a.m. today at her home as her son and husband-to-be struggled over a deer rifle, according to Novato police.

Killed was Angeline Mary Baker, 832 Wilmac Street, assistant manager of Berkeley Farms Restaurant in Novato.

She suffered a chest wound and was taken to Marin General Hospital, where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

Police said her son, Daniel Baker, 23, of 424 Coronado Drive, Petaluma, (who is also known as Daniel David) who had been asked to leave the family home last month, returned to talk to his mother.

An argument started between Baker and Frank Claxton, 38, his mother's fiance, officers said. "The argument became heated and Claxton went to the bathroom and returned with a rifle," police said.

The two men struggled and the rifle, a 30.06 caliber deer rifle, went off and the bullet struck Mrs. Baker in the chest, police said. Baker apparently lunged at Claxton, knocked the rifle aside and it discharged, officers said.

Claxton told police he had been afraid of young Baker.

Baker was treated at Novato General Hospital for head cuts and multiple bruises. Claxton was questioned at Novato Police Department and then released.

A co-worker described Mrs. Baker as "a hell of a swell person. Everybody loved her. She did a hell of a good job."

She had been employed at Berkeley Farms for seven years.

She was to have been married in Minnesota July 18.

'Execution' Theory In Pair's Death

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Detectives think an unidentified young couple found stabbed and slashed to death during the weekend may have been victims of a gang execution.

Police were working on a tip that several carloads of "hippie type" youngsters had congregated at the death site at 4 a.m. Saturday.

The bodies were discovered at 6:30 a.m. by a Dallas school teacher, Dan England, and his son, John, who were riding their motorbikes in the area.

The site just off State Highway 360, is a favorite "lovers' lane" parking area.

Police said there were no signs of identification on the bodies and no one has reported anyone fitting their description missing.

The body of the girl was nude from the waist down. Her brown leotard britches were wound around her neck. She had been stabbed several times, including once in the heart.

The body of the man was found about 10 yards away. He had been stabbed several times and his throat was cut. Both victims were about 20 years old.

Medical Examiner Dr. Felix Gwozdz said preliminary examination indicated the girl had not been raped, but he withheld a final ruling pending further tests.

day night. She came back to the hospital at 10 a.m. today and planned to stay all day.

Graham said Truman was admitted for "a lower gastrointestinal problem related to his previous admission and to check his status with his condition when he was hospitalized in 1971. Routine examinations are planned to include X-ray studies of the lower gastrointestinal tract."

It was the seventh time Truman was hospitalized since he left the White House in 1953. His last two illnesses—in 1971 and 1969—stemmed from stomach disorders.

Truman's most serious illness since leaving Washington came in 1954 when he underwent gall bladder surgery. He was in critical condition for several days following a severe reaction to antibiotics.

concert singer with the Salt Lake Tabernacle Choir.

Two daughters were born to Smith's first wife and his second wife bore him five sons and four daughters.

Smith was a strong promoter of church-related sports and was interested in flying. He was an honorary brigadier general in the Utah National Guard.

Smith left more than 140 children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

If normal church procedure is followed, his successor will be Harold B. Lee, a member along with Smith and N. Eldon Tanner, of the First Presidency, the executive group that runs the church.

Labor To Hear Nixon Viewpoint

Marin Labor Council members on Wednesday will ask Republican spokesmen why labor should vote to reelect President Richard M. Nixon.

William S. Richards, acting Republican Central Committee chairman, said yesterday the labor council has invited his committee and the Reelect Nixon Committee to attend the labor council's regular meeting at 8 p.m. in the Marin Labor Temple, 701 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

Principal speaker will be Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City, Richards said.

Abandoned Infant Dies Of Pneumonia

HOUSTON (UPI)—A baby girl found wrapped in soiled newspapers and abandoned in a drugstore rest room died of pneumonia Sunday. Doctors said they might have saved the five-day-old baby if the mother had responded to pleas that she come forth so the baby's medical history could be learned.

The infant was found Friday by drugstore employees.

California May See Third Party Fight

BOSTON (UPI)—Rep. John G. Schmitz, R-Calif., recently defeated in a primary election, says he might run on a third party ticket or conduct a write-in campaign for reelection.

"I'm going to come back stronger than ever," Schmitz promised the 10th annual New England Rally for God, Family and Country Sunday. "I'm a Marine, and I was taught to assault when things are rough."

VIET

lots destroyed a coal treatment building near the country's major port city of Haiphong, dropped a span on a bridge near Vinh and bombed an oil storage area south of the Chinese border.

The command in a delayed report said a U.S. Navy A7 fighter-bomber crashed "from unknown causes" June 18 on a night mission over North Vietnam about 17 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams and listed the pilot as missing. A Communist radio broadcast claimed today two U.S. jets were shot down Sunday over the Haiphong-Hanoi area.

Far to the south at the province capital of Song Be, the U.S. command reported that the North Vietnamese have dragged big 130mm guns into the area—the farthest south any Communist artillery has been reported in the war. Song Be is about 17 miles north of the embattled provincial capital of An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon.

The command said about 2,000 tanked government troops launched an attack before dawn today on Phuoc Binh district headquarters a mile south of Song Be. Sunday, the command said 120 North Vietnamese were killed by air raids and at least one Soviet-built tank was knocked out in fighting near the capital. South of An Loc today, fighting left 36 Communists dead, two government troops killed and 18 South Vietnamese wounded.

The U.S. command Thursday beat by one day President Nixon's deadline of lowering U.S. troop strength to below 49,000 men in South Vietnam by June 30, spokesmen said today.

The command last week withdrew 6,000 men from its Vietnam-based U.S. force to beat the Friday deadline by a single day, spokesmen said.

Military sources said about 1,300 of the U.S. servicemen were simply transferred to neighboring Thailand, where they were assigned to aid in air war over Indochina.

Spokesmen said that as of last Thursday, there were 48,000 Americans based in South Vietnam. Nixon had ordered U.S. troop strength to below 49,000 by Friday.

In addition to the Vietnam-based Americans, approximately 55,000 airmen are based in Thailand and Guam, and another 42,000 men are serving offshore with U.S. 7th Fleet aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and other warships.

The United States flies regularly out of more airbases in Thailand than it does in South Vietnam. Seven bases handle U.S. military traffic in the kingdom, while in Vietnam U.S. warplanes fly only to three.

Military spokesmen said that the strength of U.S. forces in Vietnam last week was the lowest since April 1965, when there were 36,000 U.S. servicemen based there.

Police Arrest San Rafael Man In Marin City

A San Rafael man was arrested last night in Marin City on suspicion of having a stolen car by sheriff's deputies who were investigating an unfounded report of an assault.

Deputies said they arrested William Eugene Cody, 21, of 372 Belvedere Street, after being told the car he was driving had been stolen earlier from Avis Rent-a-Car in San Rafael.

He was seen in the car about 8 p.m. in front of 33 Burgess Court where deputies had gone after the assault report.

Cody was booked into Marin County Jail where he was held in lieu of $2,500 bail. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Auto Accident Yields Injuries To Novato Youth

A Novato youth was injured in an auto accident at 12:50 p.m. Saturday on Highway 101, about eight miles north of the Route 17 off ramp, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Michael D. Roat, 18, of 14 Joan Avenue, was reported in good condition at Kaiser Hospital with a broken leg.

According to the Highway Patrol, his car hit a guard rail alongside the highway after swerving to avoid another car which cut in front of him.

Automobile Theft

Camera equipment valued at $375 was stolen from her car yesterday while it was parked near the Bermuda Palms Motel, 737 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, Helen P. Harris, of Santa Monica, told police.

Prison Guard RULE Pay Hikes Advanced

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee today approved over Reagan administration opposition a bill giving prison guards a pay raise equivalent to the salaries currently earned by highway patrolmen.

The measure, by Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, would grant guards an estimated $9.8 million to $12.5 million salary increase. It would represent a 20 per cent boost.

The bill went to the floor after one prison lieutenant complained that "we're sick and tired of being paid with compliments."

Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, said he wasn't "de-meaning" highway patrolmen but that "it takes a far more sophisticated and higher intellectual level and emotional stability" to deal with convicts than with traffic problems.

"The duties of a California Highway Patrolman are relatively simple and less demanding than those of a correctional officer," Grunsky said.

The proposal was opposed by the state Department of Finance on fiscal grounds and by the state Personnel Board which said the salaries of prison guards soon will be restudied with a view toward upgrading them.

PACT

India and Pakistani rebels during the war, was not discussed.

Present troop positions in the border state of Kashmir, bitterly disputed since the two countries won independence from Britain 25 years ago, will remain frozen under the pact pending future negotiations. Later talks will also take up normalization of relations, repatriation of war prisoners, trade and scientific and cultural exchanges.

Bhutto flew home today and on his arrival in Lahore said he would summon a special session of the National Assembly next week for ratification proceedings. He said he planned to concentrate his efforts on repatriation of Pakistani war prisoners held by India and that he would call the assembly into session a week from today. Mrs. Gandhi remained in Simla and planned to fly home Tuesday.

The two leaders declined official comment on the nature of the agreement, although Bhutto told reporters: "It is more than an agreement. It is an understanding and I am satisfied."

Six hours earlier he told newsmen the talks had reached an "unfortunate deadlock." But he and Mrs. Gandhi held further negotiations and signed two copies of the four-page agreement at 12:40 a.m. (2:10 p.m. Sunday, EDT).

Mrs. Gandhi and Bhutto appeared weary at the signing ceremony but both managed smiles. A small group of officials applauded lightly when the two leaders shook hands after signing the documents.

Troop withdrawals along the troubled border are to begin 30 days from ratification by constitutional procedures on both sides.

A transcript of the agreement, released nine hours after it was signed in Himachal Bhavan, an estate called Barnes Court in the days of British rule, said the line of control resulting from the Dec. 17, 1971, cease-fire line "shall be respected by both sides without prejudice to the recognized position of either side.

"Neither side shall seek to alter it...and both sides further undertake to refrain from the threat of use of force in violation of this line."

Indian troops in their victorious war with Pakistan captured 5,619 square miles of Pakistani territory. New Delhi will return 4,765 square miles in the desert areas of Sind and Kutch and 374 square miles in the Punjab sector but will continue to occupy 480 square miles of Kashmir.

Among the issues to be worked out later at a "mutually convenient" time by both sides, according to the pact, is the repatriation of about 93,000 Pakistani war prisoners held by India.

Bhutto wants them all back but Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, prime minister of what was once East Pakistan but emerged as independent Bangladesh after the war, has demanded war crimes trials for an estimated 1,500 of them. India thus far has been unsuccessful in persuading Mujib to drop his demand.

cratic national committee member from California and a co-chairman of the state delegation, said McGovern approved the legal move.

"He told us he thinks we are doing the right thing," Reinhardt said.

In Los Angeles, California delegates for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who were selected after the Credentials Committee decision, said they were not concerned about the court suit or a potential convention floor flight over seating of their state.

Eugene Wyman, Humphrey's top fund raiser in California, said that "it's awfully late for a judge to get involved in it." He said the decision would be appealed if the district judge rules in favor of the McGovern backers.

Earlier Sunday, in a television interview, McGovern said he had not "the slightest doubt" that the full convention would reverse the Credentials Committee decision. He said the convention was going to be "the most open, the least bossed" in American history, and he said he was convinced he was going to be the nominee.

"But whether I am the nominee or not, if the process is fair, as I fully expect it will be, I will be backing the nominee of the Democratic party," McGovern said.

McGovern by the statement appeared to back still further away from his hint last week that he might bolt the party if the California delegates he lost were used to deprive him of the nomination.

McGovern was interviewed on the ABC television program "Issues and Answers."

He said he wanted Lawrence F. O'Brien to remain as chairman of the Democratic National Committee after the convention. O'Brien, who already is in Miami Beach, thanked McGovern for a "generous expression of confidence in me" but added that "I must maintain my neutral role" until the nomination is made.

McGovern said he wanted to call on AFL-CIO President George Meany within the next few days and assure Meany "that I both welcome and need his help." Meany is believed to have played a key role in the Credentials Committee action on California.

The South Dakota senator said he had not ruled out the possibility of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy being his running mate if he is nominated, but he said he was included to believe Kennedy "probably means it when he says that he will not be a candidate for national office in 1972."

The Credentials Committee was continuing its work in Washington today, hearing challenges in the selection of delegates from North Carolina, Alaska, Washington, Texas and Oklahoma.

The committee approved compromises that adjusted some of the votes in the Michigan, Maryland and Virginia delegations.

Rohnert Council To View Budget For First Time

The Rohnert Park City Council will get its first look at the proposed 1972-73 budget at its meeting at 7 p.m. today.

The council is expected to set several special sessions to study the budget.

The council will also consider an ordinance reducing the recreation commission meetings from twice monthly to once a month and will discuss filling a vacancy on the planning commission.

Yacht Break-In Plea Changed

Vincent Joseph Salas, 23, of Sausalito, has changed his plea to guilty in the entry of a yacht at the Sausalito Yacht Harbor.

Following the negotiated plea, Judge Samuel W. Gardner of Marin Superior Court set sentencing for Aug. 14.

Salas was arrested in mid-April on suspicion of breaking into the yacht Troplino after the boat's owner told police he saw Salas walking away with his television set.

Federal Workers Reduced In May

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A congressional committee report showed today there were 2.85 million federal civilian workers in May, down 19,437 from the previous month.

The Congressional Joint Committee on Reduction of Federal Expenditures said the federal civilian payroll in April was $2.58 billion, down $240.77 million from March. Pay figures available lagged one month behind those showing the size of the work force.

OBITUARIES

CLARA MEYERS

Clara Meyers, 87, longtime Novato business woman, died yesterday in a Sonoma hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Switzerland and came to this country with her parents as a small child. She and her husband, the late Henry Meyers, ran the Quality Bakery on Grant Avenue for about 60 years.

Mrs. Meyers was one of the first subdividers in Novato. She purchased the land south of Grant Avenue to Diablo Avenue west of Highway 101 which she subdivided with the curving streets around Elm Avenue.

She moved to Sonoma 10 years ago.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Bates, Evans and Fehrens Funeral Home in Sonoma.

C. H. FLETCHER

Charles H. Fletcher, a longtime resident of Marin County, died Saturday in Ross General Hospital. He was 93 years old.

In failing health for the last several years, Fletcher was admitted to the hospital two weeks ago after suffering a stroke.

Fletcher was born in Siskiyou County in 1879 and moved to Marin County 60 years ago. He lived at 255 D Street in San Rafael.

Fletcher was in the furniture business most of his life and was one of the founders of the Marin Furniture Co. of San Rafael. (The firm is no longer in business.)

He is survived by a daughter, Evelyn Teresa Fletcher, of San Rafael.

Private funeral services were held today. Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

DONNA CONLEY

Donna Margaret Conley, 27, of Rohnert Park, who was critically injured in a car-bicycle accident Thursday in Cotati, died Saturday at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Conley and her son, Sam, 2, were riding a bicycle when they were struck from the rear by a car driven by Sara Lynn Harris, 22, of 8004 Beverly Drive, Rohnert Park.

Cotati police said Miss Harris was to be charged today in Central Sonoma Municipal Court with voluntary manslaughter.

Jacoby Dope Hearing Slated

Preliminary hearing for a 22-year-old San Anselmo resident, arrested after a mailed magazine containing suspected cocaine was delivered to his home, has been set for July 17 in Marin Municipal Court.

William Donald Jacoby was arrested June 1 by drug agents after a mailman left the magazine mailed from Bogota, Colombia, to another man in care of Jacoby.

A search of Jacoby's residence turned up hashish and more than 100 capsules of suspected cocaine, agents said.

Jacoby was charged only with having hashish.

slaughter. She had earlier been charged with driving under the influence of drugs, possession of marijuana and speeding.

Sam Conley, who also was seriously injured, was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Mrs. Conley, who had her 27th birthday Friday, was a native of New York, had lived in California two years and in Rohnert Park for only two weeks.

She is also survived by her husband, John Conley of San Francisco, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Smith of New York.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Gate of Heavens Cemetery in Valhalla, N. Y.

CALVIN U. HALL

Funeral for Calvin U. Hall of Mill Valley will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in that city.

Hall, 48, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Denver, Colo., he had lived in California 30 years and in Marin County 17 years, residing at 120 Sycamore Avenue.

For the past three years, Hall had worked as an operating engineer for the Hutchinson Company in Greenbrae.

He was a member and past governor of San Rafael Lodge, No. 1803, Loyal Order of Moose, and a member of the Vallejo Lodge No. 468, Loyal Order of Moose, the Fellowship in Alameda, No. 70 of Oakland and the Operating Engineers Union, Local 3.

Hall is survived by his wife, Leona O. Hall; a son, William R. Hall of Mill Valley; his mother, Flora Hall of Sunnyvale, and one grandchild.

Private burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

ETHEL ROBINSON

Private service for Ethel Robinson of Fairfax was held today at the Wilson and Kratzert Mortuary chapel in Richmond.

Mrs. Robinson died Friday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 87.

A native of Suisun City, Solano County, she lived at 65 Taylor Drive.

Her only survivor is a niece, Inurnment will be in Rolling Hills Memorial Park, Richmond.

Private funeral for Laurence B. Kennedy, father of James M. Kennedy of San Rafael, will be Wednesday at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Kennedy, 72, died Saturday at his San Francisco home of an apparent heart attack.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived there all his life. He resided at 1955 32nd Avenue.

He was a retired real estate appraiser for the Federal Housing Administration.

He was a member of the Marin County Sheriff's Patrol, the Loch Lomond Yacht Club and the Olympic Club.

He was the son of Gen. James M. Kennedy, a surgeon at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco during the 1906 earthquake who later became surgeon general for the Army.

medical corps in Washington, D.C.

He is also survived by a brother, A.B. Kennedy of Saratoga, a sister, Katherine K. Kean of Winter Park, Fla., and two grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

ALFREDA L. SERVENTI

Alfreda L. Serventi of 1254 Solano Street, San Rafael, was found dead in bed at her home yesterday morning. She was 61.

According to Coroner's Deputy Donald L. Cornish, the cause of death was not known pending an autopsy.

Mrs. Serventi, was last seen alive by her husband Saturday evening when she went to bed.

A native of England, Mrs. Serventi was a retired nurse and a member of the California Nurses Association.

She is survived by her husband Louis Serventi, of San Rafael.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at Keaton's, San Rafael. Entombment will be in the Italian Cemetery, Colma.

Reprisals To Come Unless Long Work Sessions Demand Met Loom On Capitol Hill

Monday, July 3, 1972

Independent Journal, 7

LONDON (UPI)—The International Air Transport Association (IATA) received an anonymous message today threatening mass reprisals against airports servicing the Israeli airline unless Israel releases the lone Japanese survivor of the Lod airport massacre within the next 24 hours.

An IATA spokesman said the release was one of four demands the message said must be met to prevent actions against any airport allowing Israel's El Al airlines to use its facilities.

The spokesman said the message, "assumed to be accurate," said U. N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim must appear on television Tuesday agreeing to the demands.

"If these demands are not met, open war will be waged against Jewish industries with El Al, the Israeli airline, being a prime target," the message said.

The demands were:

—Release Kozo Okumoto;

—Return the money paid by Japan in compensation to the victims of the massacre;

—Pay the United Nations $4 million for aid to underdeveloped countries;

—Withdraw from occupied Arab territories.

Israeli police arrested Kozo Okumoto after he and two other members of Japan's "Red Army" killed 26 persons and wounded 78 others with grenades and submachineguns on May 30. The other two Japanese were killed in the incident.

The message, received at IATA headquarters at Geneva, said Japanese were not involved in the warning and "to ignore the demands would be fatal."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress, in recess until after the Democratic National Convention, has left unresolved so many thorny issues that one leader says he will seek six-day-a-week work sessions.

Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, wants his colleagues to buckle down between the time Congress returns July 17 until it breaks again Aug. 18 for the Republican Convention. Many lawmakers say it is essential that all important work be finished during that span, since all the House members and a third of the senators will be busy this fall campaigning for re-election.

The Senate's list of undone business includes: welfare, foreign aid, defense, the minimum wage, ratification of the strategic arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union and creation of an independent consumer advocate agency.

The House, according to its leaders, still must grapple with the highly-controversial busing issue and extension of the national debt limit.

Also in the legislation works is a multibillion dollar water pollution bill, which is mired in a House-Senate Conference Committee; an antipoverty bill ready for conference; and determined efforts by House and Senate committees to get action on some kind of gun control. President Nixon has stated he would approve legislation to ban the so-called "Saturday night special," a cheaply-made handgun seen as a major contributor to the nation's crime rate, if the bill were "precisely written."

The administration's record of pushing its legislation through Congress has been mixed so far.

The House has approved a $30 billion revenue sharing package and the Senate has indicated it would probably go along with the bill. The bill was one of Nixon's major goals this year. The White House, however, had to accept a 20 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, which Nixon said went too far, and a measure against school busing, which he said did not go far enough.

The administration has said it considers the proposed moratorium on court-ordered desegregation by busing a "must" measure this year—or, as an alternative, action on an anti-busing constitutional amendment.

THOSE PRECIOUS MINUTES

An Airborne Evacuation Service

By NELS JOHNSON

An Oakland firm soon will be offering Bay Area residents a novel medical emergency service that reduces precious time sometimes lost in getting accident victims to medical treatment.

The airborne evacuation service could mean the difference between life and death.

Called AIDS — Alert Identification Directive Service — the company employs Vietnam-trained helicopter pilots and medical corpsmen who man Bell Jet Ranger choppers. The craft are capable of whisking accident victims to medical facilities in a fraction of the time required by landbound ambulances.

Subscribers to the service pay $25 per family. The fee covers parents and children under 21 for one year with no hidden charges.

Ted Lane, general sales manager, explained the emergency service while one of the firm's two copter ambulances landed in a dusty cloud on the parking lot of San Rafael's Northgate shopping center.

"The entire family fills out a medical form on entering the program," Kane said. The document, which outlines past illnesses, drug allergies, next-of-kin and other pertinent medical information, is microfilmed and fed into a computer, he said.

Three Arrested After Robbery In Mill Valley

Three East Bay teen-agers were cited for robbery Saturday after they followed a Mill Valley woman home and one grabbed her purse.

Patricia R. Swendenborg, of 215-Throckmorton Avenue, told police the three followed her car from Berkeley where she had been visiting relatives.

When she got out of her car about 1:35 a.m., one of the youths snatched her purse containing $9 in cash and fled.

Miss Swendenborg hailed a passing policeman who arrested two of the teen-agers. The other was apprehended an hour later.

Cited to appear before juvenile authorities were a 15-year-old Oakland youth and two others, aged 14 and 17, both of Richmond.

Subscribers then are issued identification decals, bracelets and patches.

"When police or a passerby see our sticker on an accident vehicle, they call us and we pull the medical files from the computer," he said.

The medical information is relayed to the best-equipped hospital in the area for the particular injury, and an emergency helicopter is dispatched, he said.

An emergency chopper, capable of 130 miles per hour, is whirling to the scene within three minutes of notification.

Medical records are transmitted to the receiving hospital within six minutes and the next-of-kin and family doctor are alerted, he said.

Lane said the medical records relay is one of the most important features of the airborne emergency service.

"It doesn't really matter how long it takes to get to the hospital if a victim lays there for hours waiting for treatment," he said. "In the AIDS program, doctors know a patient's medical history before he gets there."

Medical records of subscribers are sent to the hospital even if the firm decides that a regular ambulance can transport an accident victim to the appropriate facility faster than an emergency chopper.

But the helicopters are ideal for plucking accident victims from traffic-jammed freeways and outlying areas where regular ambulance service is unavailable, he noted.

Lane said that although other airborne emergency evacuation services have existed in the past the AIDS program is the first in the nation to link the computerized records concept with emergency helicopter service.

"And our operation will succeed because it will be prepared on a subscription basis," he said. The firm — which has pilots and male medical nurses on call 24 hours a day — will begin operation Wednesday.

The company is headed by furniture magnate Wally Breuner and plans eventually to station five helicopters in the Bay Area, depending on membership growth.

AIDS expects to expand nationwide from its Bay Area base. "We hope to see 420 heliports manned by 450 emergency birds within two years," Lane said.

Eight Bay Area hospitals — including Marin General — have agreed to welcome AIDS helicopters.

What happens if an AIDS chopper lands at the scene of a two-car collision in which non-subscribers are involved?

"We won't walk away," Lane said.

Court Again Steps Outside Its Role

The United States Supreme Court apparently has laid at rest (by 5-to-4 vote) the dispute over the death penalty.

The majority of justices ruled last week that taking a human life as punishment for crime is "cruel and unusual punishment," forbidden by the Eighth Amendment.

In doing so, they conveniently overlooked the Fifth Amendment, which says no person shall "be deprived of life . . . without due process of law."

Seeming contradictions between provisions of the Constitution have arisen before. They will arise again. And when they do, they will be resolved by the justices on what must be philosophical grounds or personal bias — since strict interpretation of the basic law's words runs into a dead end.

That usually results — as it did in this case — in 5-to-4 decisions, and in a multiplicity of separate opinions. (Each of the nine justices wrote his own on the death penalty ruling.)

WE HOLD no brief for the death penalty. Its effectiveness as deterrent to crime is questionable. Its infliction is capricious. It has been well documented that rich men rarely go to the electric chair or the gas chamber, regardless of how heinous their crimes may be. And this was a reason cited by Justice Potter Stewart as he joined the majority to rule the death penalty unconstitutional.

"I simply conclude that the Eighth and 14th Amendments cannot tolerate the infliction of a sentence of death under legal systems that permit this unique penalty to be so wantonly and so freakishly imposed," wrote Justice Stewart.

But in writing this, did not the justice say that the fault is with the application of the penalty rather than with the penalty itself?

That was the position taken by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, one of the four dissenters.

IN FINDING the death penalty unconstitutional because it is not properly applied, the Supreme Court in effect legislated again. This was pointed out succinctly by the chief justice.

"The highest judicial duty is to recognize the limits on judicial power and to permit the democratic process to deal with matters falling outside those limits," he wrote in his dissent. Pressures had caused the court, he complained, to go beyond those limits.

We agree.

NEVERTHELESS, there seems little point in pursuing a campaign to put an amendment to the California Constitution, specifically authorizing the death penalty, on the November ballot. Although Governor Reagan feels that possible loopholes in the U.S. Supreme Court ruling may leave room for such state law, it looks to us like an exercise in futility.

We can do without the death penalty. Many states and countries have done so. Democracy can survive quite well without it.

More in question is how well democracy can survive without separation of powers to prevent legislators and executives from judging and punishing, and prevent judges from legislating.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Looks Like Tough Year For Republican Candidates

By RUS WALTON

This just doesn't look like a good year for elephants. At least, not the MASTODONUS REPUBLICANUS.

Results from the recent primary elections indicate the California GOP may be in for some hard times come Nov. 6.

Given the likelihood that President Richard Nixon will squeak through and carry California and its 45 electoral votes, the rest of the GOP's prospects look exceedingly bleak.

This is the first year that Californians will vote to send 43 representatives to Washington. The present 38-member delegation is composed of 20 Democrats and 18 Republicans. If the Republicans are lucky, the 43-member group for 1973-74 will be 25 Democrats and 18 Republicans. If the Democrats are lucky, it could be 27 to 16.

THERE WILL be at least six new faces on the congressional delegation — four Democrats and two Republicans. The freshmen Democrats:

Yvonne Brathwaite, a black assemblywoman from Los Angeles' new 37th Congressional District.

George E. Brown Jr., a former congressman, from San Bernardino's new 38th.

Leo Ryan, assemblyman, San Mateo county's 11th district, and Fortney (Pete) Stark, who defeated incumbent Democrat George P. Miller in Alameda County.

The new Republican congressmen will be State Sen. Clair Burgener from San Diego's new 42nd District, and Assemblyman Carlos J. Moorhead, who will replace retiring H. Allen Smith in Glendale-Pasadena's 20th District.

"The Ouija board said Muskie for vice president, the tea leaves said Kennedy, and I drew Wallace's name in the office pool."

Odds are that San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas will defeat incumbent Republican William Maillard in the new Sixth District (parts of San Francisco and Marin County). Assemblyman Bill Ketchum, R-Bakersfield, should defeat Democrat Tim Lemucchi for the new 36th seat (King and parts of Kern, San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara counties).

AS THINGS look now, Republicans stand to take a shellacking in State Assembly races. They could end up with a net loss of five or six seats.

In four assembly districts incumbent Republicans who held their seats by reason of personal popularity are retiring or running for other offices.

Frank Belotti of Eureka (Second), James Dent of Concord (10th), Bill Ketchum of Bakersfield (29th), and Bill Campbell of La Puente (50th). Belotti and Dent are retiring. Ketchum is running for congress and Campbell resigned to run unsuccessfully for the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

The Republican registration deficits in those four districts range from 15 to 25 percentage points. It is doubtful the GOP can hold any of them.

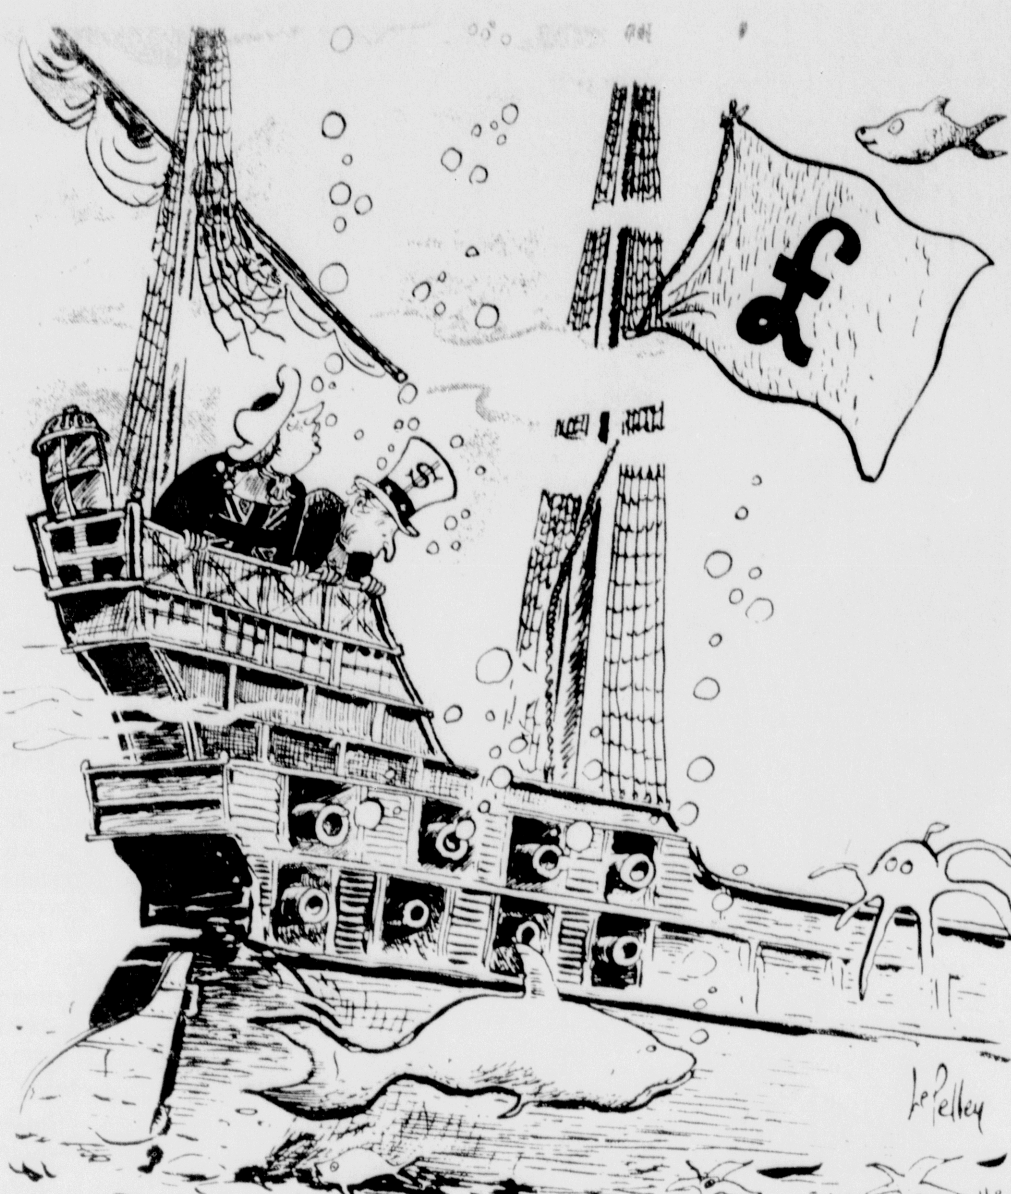

Democrats also have hopes of picking up four more seats now held by Republicans: the 32nd and 33rd in Fresno (Ken Maddy and Ernest Mobley), the 57th in Los Angeles (Charles Conrad), and the 52nd in South Gate (Floyd Wakefield).

The Republicans think they can pick up at least three seats now held by Democrats: San Diego's 76th (incumbent Bob Wilson vs. Republican Ron Del Principe), Orange County's 69th (incumbent Ken Cory vs. William Dannemeyer) and Ventura's 37th (incumbent Ken MacDonald vs. John Conlan).

The Republicans should be able to defeat Wilson in San Diego, but are less sure of unseating either Cory or MacDonald.

DEMOCRATS SHOULD pick up at least one and perhaps two seats in the state Senate. Milton Marks, liberal Republican senator from San Francisco, faces defeat by popular San Francisco supervisor Ron Pelosi. Democrats may also be able to unseat John Nejedly, R-Contra Costa County; at best that will be a very close race.

The big contest in the Senate will be for the third District seat, being vacated by Democrat Stephen Teale. The 12-county district spreads from Lake Tahoe to Modesto and it's 2-1 Democratic. It's Assemblyman Ernest LaCoste, Democrat, vs. former Assemblyman Clair Berryhill. Both parties plan to spend upward of $100,000 to try to win the seat.

"We decided to let everything float."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

New Campaign Target: Noise Pollution

There is a serious and immediate need for county and community legislation to control and limit noise of all kinds.

Marin County's topography creates natural reflecting surfaces that magnify the sound of surface vehicles, flying machines and power tools, to cite three major sources of disturbance.

The time has come to mobilize Marin Against Noise.

Councilman's Actions Show Incompetence

On page 25 of last Wednesday's edition you reported that Martin Blinder of the San Anselmo City Council "moved to place five United States Supreme Court Judges under surveillance". Also, that Mayor Warren Perry blasted the motion indicating the council should concern itself with local matters; that Councilman Woodrow Capurro lectured the freshman Councilman on the purpose of open time for public debates; and that City Atty. John Buresh advised that the motion was totally illegal. According to your report Mr. Blinder nevertheless stuck by his motion. Certainly it appears that this individual has demonstrated his incompetence to serve as a representative of the citizens of San Anselmo.

Unhappy Recollection Of Hospital Stay

It is a natural reaction, after having recovered from illness, to want to thank the hospital, the rest home, the doctor, the nurses, all who had a hand in restoring us to health. The public print is neither the place to praise or condemn, that can best be done in a more personal way. Since, however, you have been accepting reports on Marin General (letter of June 27, enclosed) may I say that my stay there leaves no pleasant recollection. I was placed in a semi-private room (there were others vacant) with a "terminal case." All during his dying hours the man groaned in agony and pleaded for water. Seriously ill and under great mental distress, as I was, how could I refuse him?

Does the hospital have a customer relations department?

Burning American Flag A First Amendment Right

A letter of mine appeared on your editorial page June 29, concerning flag-burning statutes. At the end you appended an editorial comment to the effect that the constitutionality of such statutes had been affirmed by the federal courts.

It may be true that some few lower federal courts have so held, but the question has not been decided by the Supreme Court. In the case of Street vs. U.S. (1969) the court reversed a conviction under just such a statute without deciding the constitutionality of this type statute.

Until the court does rule on the question, it is improper for you to imply that these statutes are cloaked in constitutionality.

More properly, you should address the basic issue of just what interest the government has in attempting to intrude into this area at all? What interest can possibly justify this invasion of First Amendment rights?

Fellow Councilman Speaks Up For Mayor

I am writing this letter in protest to an action that is being taken by citizens in my community against a fellow councilman and which I believe is grossly unfair, untrue and unwarranted.

The charges leveled against Mayor "Pete" Norville could have been, in my judgement, leveled against myself or other councilmen with equal justification.

The charges made are to the effect that the mayor has been unresponsive to the demands of the citizenry, has favored the developer rather than open space, and has violated the planning goals of his town, endorsing heavier zoning rather than lighter. Not so! He has been as objective and careful, although maybe not to everyone's satisfaction, in these areas as prudence and intelligence would allow.

Unresponsive to town needs? Not so! He has done more than any other councilman to keep abreast of these needs and has acted accordingly. On an overall basis he has had a good grasp of the town's problems in all areas.

Favored developers? Emphatically not so! On more than one occasion he has journeyed to the Civic Center to plead Corte Madera's case before the board of supervisors or the county planning commission. Witness the appeals he made for reduction of zone from R-4 to R-2 in the John Robeiro 100 plus unit development on Tamal Vista Boulevard. That plea was partially responsible in getting the county planning commission to vote for a lesser density. The developer has since abandoned his plans to build. . .

I believe that this charge should be looked at and reconsidered in its broader context of what Mayor Norville has supported across the spectrum of total town involvement. It covers a much broader area and if justice is to be done it should be done with full weight being given to other areas of performance by the mayor and his current council. . .

In a note of conciliation and as a feeling of one councilman, let us terminate the hatchet job being leveled upon the mayor and get on with the business of town government articulated by a more normal and rational interplay of citizens and their representatives.

Today is Monday, July 3, the 185th day of 1972 with 181 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Cancer.

American author John Mason Brown was born July 3, 1900.

On this day in history:

In 1892 workers at the Carnegie Steel Co. in Homestead, Pa. struck. Before the strike ended, seven guards and 11 strikers and spectators had been killed.

In 1950 American troops faced North Koreans in battle for the first time.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

End Of Vietnam War Appears In Sight Before November

END TO VIETNAMESE WAR IN SIGHT. Reason is that the Soviet Union, China and the United States have all decided they want it to end.

It is a remarkable feat of diplomacy which the President has brought off. He has apparently found ways to bring both Moscow and Peking into joint efforts with the United States to get peace in Vietnam.

HOW DID THE PRESIDENT DO IT? He began working on it from the first day he took office — Russia and China to see that it was in their interests to help end the war.

Nixon deliberately went to Peking before going to Moscow. He wanted the Russians to know that he could do diplomatic business with China. They got the point. He then went to Moscow to demonstrate that he was doing nothing behind Russia's back and that the United States wanted to be friends with both.

It wasn't polite conversation which brought the two big Communist powers closer to the United States. It was their fear of each other.

Russia is acutely distrustful of the Chinese; China is acutely distrustful of the Russians. They can't do business with each other, but each decided that it is time to do business with the United States.

HOW AND WHEN WILL IT END? The expectation in Washington now is that there will be an end to the fighting before November.

The war could end in two stages — military and diplomatic:

1 — A cease-fire internationally supervised.

2 — A negotiated settlement resulting from military stalemate.

Hanoi always has an alternative to a negotiated peace. It can just let the offensive peter out, withdraw its forces — and wait for another day.

WHO WILL BENEFIT MORE POLITICALLY — the Democratic nominee or the President?

Sen. George McGovern was among the earliest to change his position from support of the war to opposition to it. He can fairly argue that his leadership in opposition has pressured Nixon and thus contributed to ending the fighting.

But Nixon is the one who will be ending it and it is Hubert Humphrey's candid view that the handling of the Vietnamese war will be a significant political plus for the President.

FATE OF THE U.S. — SOVIET NUCLEAR AGREEMENTS. They couldn't come up at a better time. They will be overwhelmingly approved in the next few weeks. Few will venture to vote against them in an election year. It would not be surprising to see the crotchety Senate Foreign Relations Committee approve unanimously.

This will enable the United States and Russia this fall to carry negotiations into the next stage. This will be crucial: It will determine whether we are going to get arms reduction, not just arms control. This will decide whether we are going to save pennies or billions.

THE SENATE'S GRAB FOR POWER. At the prodding of Sen. J. William Fulbright, the Senate is demanding that the President submit all executive agreements — such as the interim five-year nuclear weapons agreement — as treaties.

Fulbright contends that the purpose is to regain a congressional voice in foreign policy. That's a false argument. Executive agreements have to be approved by both Houses. Fulbright is not just asking for a senatorial veto; he is demanding a near senatorial veto since it takes only one-third plus one of the Senate to reject treaties.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Gettysburg's Hallowed Ground — And The Desire For A Buck

GETTYSBURG — There are a very few pieces of America that never fail to hold the heart, no matter how many times we go back to them.

For me, one is the Lincoln Memorial, where you look up into the sadness of that great face and then out between the columns, down the Mall toward the Capitol. Another is the Statue of Liberty, copper-green in the bay, obsolete in an age when immigrants bypass the harbor for the airports, standing forever eloquent. And there is the point here on the slight slope of Cemetery Hill, where 109 years ago today, the Union held and the Confederacy receded, and the world was different from then on.

I NEVER STAND here but I see the rows of gray, the bayonets in the dust, advancing across the open with hardly a yard of defile between ridge and ridge, and hear the cannon and see the gaps rip through the lines as they move closer. I have wondered sometimes if it moves just me, because I know my great-grandfather was there in the 53rd Virginia, coming on with Armistead's brigade. But in fact it always did, before I ever knew what outfit he was in.

After the war Mrs. George Pickett, whose husband's division made that charge, dipped her pen in lilac and described what happened on this spot: "Armistead, sword in hand, sprang over the stone wall crying, 'Come on boys, come on! We'll give them the cold steel! Come on! Who will follow me?' He reached the battery, his hand touched one of Cushing's guns. Then he and Cushing fell together, and a crimson river washed the base of the corpse of trees that marked the high tide of the Confederacy — a river formed of the noblest blood that ever flowed in American veins."

They don't write history like that any more. It was old-fashioned when it was written, and looks more roccoco now than the regimental monuments along the drive. Yet is and they mark the fact that here was the most decisive event since our beginning, and no matter how fast-moving and blasé we as a people have become, Gettysburg should never become just another honky-tonk tourist trap.

WELL, NOT COMPLETELY, anyhow. If you tunnel your vision straight out toward Lee's headquarters in the far trees, it is much as it was then. If you look up and down Emmitsburg Road, it is much as the outskirts of Las Vegas, Nev., are today.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 3, 1962

Six Death Row inmates of San Quentin Prison sawed their way out of their cells, wounded two guards and held them hostage for four hours in an attempt to break out.

Marin County Auditor Michael Mitchell estimated the county's budget for fiscal 1963 would call for a tax rate of $2.08 per $100 assessed valuation unless reduced at final hearings in August. This would be up 3 cents from the previous year.

20 YEARS AGO

July 3, 1952

A special county tax rate of between 30 and 40 cents for repair of roads was proposed to finance the program recommended by Carl Clow, Marin County road commissioner.

The Post Office Department disclosed it was considering closing the Belvedere and Tiburon post offices and replacing them with a branch of the Mill Valley office.

COUNTRY PARSON

"I like folks who say nice things about people — which is one reason I don't mind hearing folks talk about themselves."

Bruce Catton, who recreated the Civil War for so many American readers, opposed the idea. Prominent architects oppose it. The State of Pennsylvania opposes it. The Interior Department opposes it. The National Park Service opposes it. The President's Advisory Council on Historic Preservation opposes it. A 17-year-old Gettysburg student named Ginny Davis opposes it. I would feel sick and lonely if most of 209 million other Americans besides me did not oppose it.

But Ottenstein is rushing to obtain the site between sessions of the Adams County Court, where his demand is now being heard. When the case resumes next Friday, his lawyers may be in position to plead that permission to build should be granted because he has already gone to so much trouble and expense. Fortunately for the nation, the state and other opponents are likely to appeal the case all the way up the chain if the local court rules against them. But then, so is Ottenstein.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Buses Answer To Pollution? Not When They Run Nearly Empty

A recent study by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District concluded that the use of buses was the solution to future air pollution.

The study must have been made by someone sitting in an office. Surely whoever made the study could not have traveled the highways and streets of Marin County.

The Golden Gate Bridge District buses travel quite frequently. During commute hours, they are filled, but during the middle part of the day, they run with but very few passengers, not enough to pay the wages of the drivers.

They are nice, new, shiny buses, but the district does not seem to have learned about preventive maintenance. Many of the buses seem to be badly in need of valve and ring work in the engines.

Have you ever driven beside or behind one of these buses with a handful of people on it, or completely empty, as it belches smoke and fumes out into the air? We'd wager that many of those trips put more pollution into the air than if the few passengers were driving their own cars.

Public transportation by buses may help relieve some of the congestion on the highways during commute hours, but not during the rest of the day.

THE MARIN CIVIC Center is renowned as one of the famous buildings designed by Frank Lloyd Wright. It is used as a symbol of the beauty of buildings in the area.

Most of the pictures of the building were taken during the spring when the surrounding hills and the area are green with grass. Take a look at it this time of year. The hills on which most of the building sits, especially the Hall of Justice wing, are brown with dead grass and wild oats.

Inside that Hall of Justice, the Municipal Court judges meet out sentences for drunken driving. Some of these sentences include working 40 or 80 hours for the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department.

One would think that some of this compulsory work for the county could be used to clean up its showplace.

BY CONTRAST, the San Rafael City Hall is beautifully landscaped. A liberal use in this landscaping has been made of Oregon grape. It has a yellow flower in the spring and now is loaded with edible berries which also make a good jelly or jam.

Incidentally, it is the state flower of our neighbor to the north.

However, in all the landscaping, the architect forgot to leave one little plot which could be planted to California poppies, the official flower of the state.

There might be some moral there that the city hall uses the Oregon state flower, but not the California state flower.

Utility District Vows 50-Cent Tax Cut

Because of huge water rate increases, Bolinas Community Public Utility District directors have promised homeowners a tax rate reduction of about 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The board adopted Friday a tentative budget totaling $116,000 for 1972-73.

Director W. Fred Wade reported the 1971-72 tax rate was $1.81 per $100 assessed valuation. The cut will result from increased water revenues and a $1,000 reduction from last year's budget.

The board set a public hearing on the budget for 10:30 a.m. July 22 in district headquarters at 270 Elm Road.

Wade said the proposed spending program included $8,000 for work on the new sewage system, $16,000 toward buying additional water sources and $11,000 for payment of old debts, mainly involved with plans made last year for a joint sewage treatment system with Stinson Beach that has since been scrapped.

Taxes provided $81,000 of last year's $117,000 budget. Only $50,000 from taxes will be needed this year, Wade said, because the board has raised water rates by 30 per cent to 300 per cent, depending on type of use and quantity consumed.

Kentucky Governor Is Recovering Well

HOUSTON (UPI)—Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky kept up his solid diet Sunday, regaining weight and strength following last week's abdominal surgery.

The governor indulged in two milkshakes Saturday and was described by one of his doctors as "doing beautifully." Ford, 47, may be discharged from the hospital this week so he can lead the Kentucky delegation at the Democratic National Convention starting July 10 at Miami Beach.

MELVIN MADDOCKS

A Depressing View Of Future: The Psychopath As Normal

Like a lot of former fiction writers, Alan Harrington — the author of two brilliant novels ("The Revelations of Dr. Modesto," "The Secret Swinger") — has been driven to explicitness: the treatise rather than the plot. His last book, "The Immortalist," constituted a rebellious essay on the subject of death, with Mr. Harrington flatly pronouncing it intolerable — no longer an event to which man should be resigned.

His newest thesis is no less Promethean. "Psychopaths" suggests that contemporary history is, in effect, altering human nature. Man, Mr. Harrington proposes, may be evolving into a mutant, virtually a new species. Personalities once regarded as abnormal, indeed sick, may soon, he warns, pass on the norm.

ALMOST CASUALLY Mr. Harrington sketches his profile of the common everyday psychopath in our time. The ubiquitous skyjacker. The machine gunner at My Lai. The low-Dostoyevskian killer who shoots strangers as if they were clay targets. The mad bomber who has made the emptying of public buildings as routine as schoolchildren's fire drills. And, of course, the drug-tripper: all the people with needles and pills, blowing their minds.

Are these horror stories prototypes of the future? Are we as a society changing our heads? Is what once would have been judged psychopathic behavior becoming the favored life-style? And if so, is this bad or good?

Mr. Harrington is too intelligent to be positive about his answers, to say nothing of his recommendations. This is territory for hysteria, and he strives to avoid that. He is quite sure that the middle class has lost its confidence. The supreme virtue of moderation is no longer supreme — no longer perhaps even a virtue. Deference to authority and tradition, respect for hard work have been irreparably undermined, he suspects.

PSYCHOPATHIC TRAITS, on the other hand, have assumed moral value. One notes an appetite for absolute freedom — to do what one wants when one wants to. One registers the preference for disconnected, spontaneous living: grasshopper rather than ant. One senses the weakening of Social Contract — of responsibility to any community except the community one improvises from day to day.

These attitudes, once judged childish at best, criminal at worst, are now being enshrined as wisdom. Mr. Harrington points out, as he tracks their intellectual history: in the manifestos of black and white revolutionaries, in the psychedelic gospel of Timothy Leary, in the novels of the Beat Generation.

Mr. Harrington seems half thrilled, half horrified at the prospect of a mental Big Bang, rather like a spectator at Los Alamos in 1945. "It's not so easy, not even good enough," he writes, "to take an overly righteous stand against the psychopath." Perhaps, he suggests, history, frantically looking for its transition to the future, can find no other solution.

His not-very-happy conclusion: "Perhaps a mad god is better than none." Desperately he dreams of a reconciliation of Old World and New World. Futurists and traditionalists, he supposes, might commune together in drug-assisted religious rituals — ceremonies of chemical salvation.

FOR ALL HIS old-fashioned moderation at presenting his theme, for all his sneaking admiration for the psychopath (he is, at times, a sort of fellow traveler), Mr. Harrington is finally panicked by the subject he confronts, or rather, that confronts him. The comparison springs to his mind for a horde of turned-on psychopaths: Genghis Khan's Mongols. Yet Mr. Harrington also knows how fatigued, how bored the reasonable have become with their reasonableness.

And so the world teeters between a scream and a yawn.

Mr. Harrington prefaced his last novel with a quote from "Steppenwolf": "Now there are times when a whole generation is caught . . . between two ages, between two modes of life, and thus loses the feeling for itself, for the self-evident, for all morals, for being safe and innocent."

And now he himself has explicitly described the predicament of men of the '70s, equally out of touch with the past and the future, fearing Apocalypse but hoping for rebirth.

Amid all the awful dread of future shock, Mr. Harrington has managed to write a serious book. It will leave no reader unoffended, one way or another. But it will not leave him complacent either, and that may be the best service this sort of science-fiction can perform — to make us realize rudely that not just moral choices but a choice of morality is involved.

Berke Appointed To New U.S. Advisory Committee

The White House and Department of State have announced the appointment of San Francisco attorney Nathan R. Berke to a newly created national Advisory Committee on International Organizations.

Berke, an attorney for the Independent-Journal, will serve on the 25-man committee to advise the State Department on United States support and participation in the United Nations and the agencies and programs associated with the U.N.

The committee was formed as a result of recommendations by the President's Commission for the Observance of the 25th Anniversary of the U.N. It will meet in Washington, D.C., with foreign affairs officials, probably twice a year following its organizational meeting this month.

An imaginative program for 2 to 5-year-olds was held at Ross Elementary School last week. At the final meeting of the six-part-series the children experimented with a parachute which they had tie-dyed earlier in the week. Theme for the program, created by Lynn Moody and Kay Hamblin of Ross, was "Creation of the Earth." The 30 children met from 10 a.m. to noon June 21 through Friday and through movement, sound and fantasy were taught about the earth.

UPS AND DOWNS IN THE PRE-SCHOOL WORLD

Peter Bradt, Miss McNutt Are Married At St. Paul's

On a wedding trip to Tahiti are Mr. and Mrs. Peter G. Bradt who were married Saturday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael.

The bride is the former Bonnie Deane McNutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olan (Jock) McNutt of Novato. Mr. and Mrs. Gay Bradt of San Carlos are the bridegroom's parents. Mrs. Allen Himes of Long Beach was matron of honor, Kathleen Marie Quinn of San Francisco was the bridesmaid.

Jon Cheney of Sacramento was best man, and the bridegroom's brother, Tom Bradt of San Carlos; and the bride's brother, Robert McNutt of Novato, ushers.

A reception at the Elk's Club on the Magnolia Terrace followed the ceremony. The couple will live in San Diego.

The bride was graduated from Claremont High School and attended the University of California at Santa Barbara. She received both bachelor and master of science degrees from U.C. at Davis.

A graduate of Serra High School in San Mateo and U.C. at Davis, the bridegroom also attended College of San Mateo. His sisters are Mrs. Maryanne Morton of Lynwood, Wash., Mrs. Chris Swanson of Seattle, Wash., and Lucy Bradt of San Carlos.

MARRIED IN SAN FRANCISCO

Sheila Lucchessi of Mill Valley and Thomas Finale of South San Francisco were married at the Swedenborgian Church in San Francisco and will live in Mill Valley. Their wedding trip was spent in Lake County, where they have a new summer home.

Give Chef Some Tips On Starting Charcoal

NEW YORK (UPI)—Make sure your outdoor chef knows the safest procedures before he starts work at the barbecue. The chef usually is the one who gets burned most seriously when either trying to start the fire with highly flammable liquids or when pouring the liquid on dying coals to bolster the fire.

The best way to start the fire is the old-fashioned way: spreading charcoal over lighted wood shavings or kindling. Some commercially available products are relatively safe if used as directed—electric starters (be sure to look for the Underwriters' Laboratories Inc. label) as well as some liquid and treated solid starters.

To freshen the fire, use paper, leaves, wood shavings or other combustibles, but not flammable liquids. Adding a liquid starter to an apparently dead fire can result in a flareup or an explosion.

Around the barbecue site avoid wearing apparel with dangling sleeves or shirttails that can easily catch fire. Tell the chef to roll up sleeves and wear an apron of denim or other heavy material and use potholder-type gloves to protect hands from hot handles or grease splatters.

A relatively simple way to start the charcoal: get a two quart oil can from the local gas station. Remove top and bottom and wash the can. Take a punch-type can opener and punch triangle-shaped holes around the top and bottom edges of the can. Then make loosely bunched balls of newspaper, each about plum size. Pack these loosely in the bottom of the can standing on the grill. Pack the top with charcoal. Then light the paper balls by using a long match, poking same through some of the punches at the bottom end of the can. The draft will carry the flame to the other paper and the burning paper, its flame carried upward in the chimney made by the can will be of sufficient intensity to start the charcoal. It will smoke a lot.

When the charcoal seems started use a pair of tongs to remove the hot can. The starter charcoal will spread out and you're on your way—with no danger of an explosion.

Put the hot can in a bucket of water near the grill. It will cool off fast before anyone can suffer a burn.

It's an old camper's way of starting charcoal and it works.

CHRISTINE RAIT became the bride of Bruce Arthur Glass in a ceremony at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Cameron Craik in Mill Valley. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Glass Jr. of Sausalito. The newlyweds are living in San Anselmo.

Ceremony At Church In Mill Valley

Lorna Ann Bilsborough of Mill Valley became the bride of David Paul Underhill of Corte Madera Saturday at the Mill Valley Methodist Church.

Lynn Bilsborough of Mill Valley was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were another sister, Dayna Bilsborough of Mill Valley, and the bridegroom's sister, Judy Underhill of Corte Madera.

Bryan Stewart of Mill Valley was best man, and ushers were the bridegroom's brother, Jim Underhill of Corte Madera, and the bride's brother, Douglas Bilsborough of Mill Valley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse. The couple will live in Corte Madera.

Both are graduates of Tamalpais High School. David, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton D. Underhill of Corte Madera, attended the College of Marin and is employed with Don's Chevron Service Station in Mill Valley.

Lorna is the granddaughter of Mrs. M. E. Bilsborough of San Francisco, and David is the grandson of Mrs. Thelma Downie of San Anselmo and great-grandson of George Johnson of San Anselmo.

Equal-Pay Law Now In Effect

A new law went into effect Friday requiring retailers to pay men and women at the same rate in the same store, regardless of status, if they hold substantially the same job. The order was contained in the new education law, signed by President Nixon June 23. The law extends provisions of the Equal Pay Act to include groups not previously covered — high-level executives, administrative and professional workers and outside salespersons.

The U. S. Department of Labor said 4 million women workers, especially in retail, stand to benefit from the law. Labor officials noted that the median wage differential between men and women in the retail industry is about $4,000 a year.

Robert D. Noyes, Weds Miss Smith

Robert Dirk Noyes of Tiburon took Linnea Linn Smith of Rochester, N.Y., as his bride on Saturday at Dunsuir House in Oakland.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smith of Oakland. Linnea chose her sister, Shannon Smith of Oakland, as her maid of honor. Katherine Moulton of Berkeley and Lubomira Zacharkiw of Ann Arbor, Mich., were bridesmaids.

The best man was Tom Malone of Berkeley. Ushers were the bridegroom's brothers, Dr. Peter Ford Noyes of San Francisco and William Bell Noyes of Tarawa Terrace, N.C.

A reception followed the ceremony at Dunsuir House.

Robert, a medical student, will work at Moffatt Hospital in San Francisco this summer. The couple will return to Rochester in the fall where Robert will complete his medical studies.

The bride, who is a graduate of Bullard High School in Fresno, earned his bachelor's degree at University of California and master's degree at University of Michigan. She is a science teacher at Spencer Port High School in Rochester.

The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Chester Noyes of Tiburon. A Redwood High School graduate, he was also graduated from University of California. Robert will be a senior medical student at University of Rochester Medical School in the fall.

Statistics Show It's Safer At Work

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's safer at work than it is at home. The Health Insurance Institute says so, basing the statement on an analysis of National Safety Council data.

Last year there were 2.2 million disabling on-the-job injuries — compared with 3.1 million disabling injuries off the job, many in the home.

Oldster Exercises

Exercises prepared especially for the senior adult are led each Monday at 2 p.m. at the Depot Senior Center in San Rafael. Instructor is program director Lu Hodgen. The exercises are done in a chair.

Richard Miller, Weds Miss Richards In Air Base Rite

The chapel at Hamilton Air Force Base was the setting for the nuptials of Cynthia Ann Richards and Richard Kenneth Miller.

For the Saturday afternoon ceremony Cynthia chose as her honor attendants Mrs. Frank Brown of Salem, Ore., and Carol Budd of San Rafael.

The bridesmaids were Carol Cochran of Davis, Kethy Bagley of Arnold and Mrs. James Von Bima Jr. of San Anselmo.

Milton Kingland of San Rafael served as best man. The ushers were John R. Richards of Sherman Oaks, the bride's brother; James Von Bima Jr., Jon Miller of Petaluma, the bridegroom's brother; and John Jacobsen of El Cerrito.

A reception followed the wedding at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club, and the couple left on a Carmel wedding trip.

They will live in San Rafael. Cynthia, who is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. William S. Richards of San Rafael, is employed with the Bank of America in San Francisco. She is a graduate of San Rafael High School and the University of California at Davis. Cynthia is the sister of William S. Richards of Los Altos, James E.

Richards of Sepulveda and John Richards of Sherman Oaks.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller of Sebastopol and the brother of Mrs. James Von Bima Jr. and Jon Miller. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Auston of Santa Rosa, Fred Starbuck of Sebastopol and Mrs. Zetta Starbuck of San Anselmo.

He graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the Frank Lloyd Wright School of Architecture, and is employed with Standard Oil Co. of California in San Francisco.

St. Rita's Setting of Wedding

St. Rita's Catholic Church in Fairfax was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Polly Jean Edmonds and Sante A. Triscuzzi of Novato. A reception at Deer Park Villa restaurant in Fairfax followed.

The bride was attended by the bridegroom's sisters, Carolyn Triscuzzi as maid of honor and Anna Triscuzzi as bridesmaid. Kathy Finke of San Anselmo was also a bridesmaid.

Best man was Tony Amoroso of Rohnert Park, and Richard Soldavini of Novato and Charles Trimble Jr. of Fairfax ushered.

Polly was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin. She is the sister of Mrs. Sara Chun of Oakland and John R. Edmonds II and Benjamin F. Edmonds, both of Corte Madera. Mrs. and Mrs. John R. Edmonds of Fairfax are her parents.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo A. Triscuzzi of Novato. He is also a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed by the Golden Gate Transit District. Angelo A. Triscuzzi of Novato is his brother.

The newlyweds are living in San Rafael.

Bucking The Trend Of Expensive Tuition

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI)—In a departure from the trend to increase college and university tuitions, the New Hampshire Board of Trustees has voted to decrease in-state tuition by five per cent at the state colleges and the University of New Hampshire.

The trustees were able to effect the reduction because the New Hampshire legislature, meeting in special session, granted the public institutions a supplementary budget of $405,000.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She's 51, In Love, Pregnant — Wonders If She Should Marry

DEAR HELEN: I'm 51, expecting a baby, and don't know whether I should get married or not. You see, Andy, the father of this child had a terrible marriage and so did I. We're both divorced (four of my eight children are still living at home). We worry about taking a chance again, especially since he's 12 years younger than me. But we DO love each other. He's good and kind and loves my children. Because of my age, the doctor says I must take it very easy, so Andy does everything for us — though he doesn't live with us. We're on welfare, and I think it would be cheating if he moved in but wasn't my husband. He says we're his whole life and I believe him. Should we go on as we are until we're sure this marriage will work, or should we marry now to give the baby a name? That seems like "forcing" things and maybe we're not ready. — L.B.

DEAR L.: Do I read between the lines: "Maybe we can't AFFORD marriage"? Does Andy earn enough to pay doctor and hospital bills and support a family of seven? Perhaps finances are the big problem here — not compatibility — for you seem very well suited to each other. Work out a budget together, aim for a job after the baby is born, talk the situation over with your welfare worker (you may still be eligible for aid to dependent children), and let's hope you can manage a wedding before the birth announcement. — H.

DEAR HELEN: You felt it "cold-blooded" that the second and subsequent illegitimate children of welfare families should be taken away for adoption, as a recent letter suggested. You might change your mind if you worked along with me as a special education teacher for the handicapped. Many of these children are "retarded" or slow because they have had no chance at home. They are educationally and emotionally handicapped through poverty and ignorance. It has been proved that the first five years of a child's life shape much of his later success or failure, and when he has had no pre-school "enrichment" which the ordinary middle-class home takes for granted (games, trips, talk, reading or being read-to, the feeling that people care) he often is blighted: he can't catch up with his peers, so gives up instead.

I realize all unwed mothers are not "don't care" types or mentally impaired, but a big percentage of those who have several illegitimate children may raise them in the same mold, thus continuing the vicious circle of illiteracy, welfare, and hopelessness. If the children were removed from such homes and given to foster parents who could provide adequately for them, we might break the circle.

Better yet, these single welfare mothers of several should be sterilized by the state. And I believe that people retarded beyond a certain point should also be sterilized so that they won't bring more damaged, or neglected unwanted children into the world. — CONCERNED TEACHER

DEAR HELEN: My husband has a fine position and could well afford to pay a gardener, but instead, the grass on one-third acre of our lawn is left for me to cut — with a hand mower! He won't touch it, nor will he help with the housework. Could you please say something that would put a fire under this lazy lummoxy? — TIRED

DEAR TIRED: How about putting a picket sign out front: "This lawn is struck until power mower or gardener is installed." And stick with it: Let the grass grow two feet tall! — H.

SARAH HEINTZ August vows set

Miss Heintz Engagement Announced

The engagement of Sarah Ann Heintz of Piedmont to David G. Barnhill of Kansas City, Mo., has been announced. Sarah is a graduate of Terra Linda High School and attended Chabot Junior College in Hayward. She is now a bridal consultant for Gabriel Moulin photography studio in San Francisco.

Sarah is the daughter of Mrs. L. D. Smith of Houston, Tex., and G. H. Heintz of Castro Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. McCurdy of Marinwood are her grandparents, and she is the sister of Jeff Heintz.

David is presently serving in the Navy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Barnhill of Kansas City and the brother of Robert Barnhill, who is serving with the Marine Corps.

The couple will be married Aug. 26 in Piedmont.

Cleanup Hints

Some barbecue cleanup hints. Line the grill with heavy-duty aluminum foil before laying a bed of gravel (for good heat circulation) and charcoal. Rub the grill with salad oil to prevent meat sticking to the bars. Keep a squirt gun or spray bottle of water on hand to douse flames and cut down on smoke.

Mutual Friends Introduce Couple; 50th Anniversary

On July 3, 1922, a widow and a bachelor were married in Youngstown, Ohio, and the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Welch, is celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary today.

Ralph Welch and Mrs. Orrie Buckwalter, the former Jane Backus, who had been a widow for 13 years, were introduced by mutual friends at a party. The couple was married by Rev. W. E. Hammaker at the Methodist Church parsonage in Youngstown.

Mr. Welch was working for General Fireproofing, a tool and die shop which made metal furniture, and Mrs. Welch worked as a medical technician for the Youngstown Hospital for 15 years.

Following Mr. Welch's retirement 21 years ago, they moved to California to be near Mrs. Welch's son and family, the Delbert Buckwalters.

Yesterday they were honored by their family including their four grandsons and their wives, Messrs. and Mmes. Ralph, Robert, Ronald and Richard Buckwalter.

Mr. Welch, who is 82 years old, said he has some medical problems, and spends most of his time "just loafing," but Mrs. Welch, 83 years old, enjoys music, playing the guitar with the Novato Rural Band and swimming every day in the pool at the apartment complex where they live.

They are both members of the Novato Senior Citizens and Mrs. Welch is a past matron of the Trias Chapter, Order of Eastern Star in Youngstown.

LOOKING OVER one of the many cards sent to their Novato apartment are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Welch who are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary today. They were married in Youngstown, Ohio, on July 3. Their family had a dinner party for them at Sonoma Joe's in Petaluma yesterday. (Independent-Journal photo)

Who Took Chicken Out Of The Soup?

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE WASHINGTON — If the government succeeds in requiring food labels to state the percentage of primary ingredients, consumers will find some surprising facts about popular products.

For example, they will find that the amount of chicken in a can of chicken soup may be only 2 per cent. That is the minimum required for any product called by that name.

Incidentally, producers fought a long legal battle for a lower figure, but lost when the Supreme Court ruled that 2 per cent was not too much. Beef soup must have at least 5 per cent beef.

In another case that reached the Supreme Court, a government standard of at least 90 per cent peanuts in peanut butter was upheld despite concerted efforts of manufacturers to reduce the level.

THESE ARE examples of foods which have been standardized by government decree after much research, discussion and legal battling. Some 400 food items have been standardized. In other words, they must have certain ingredients before they can be sold as commonly known products.

But only a few government and industry officials know the formulas for such standardized products. With a few exceptions, ingredients do not have to be listed on labels of these items. As a rule, ingredients need to be listed in order of predominance only for products without standards.

As a result, consumers get little information about ingredients of food products that have been standardized. Several consumer groups have launched efforts to make labels more informative.

Partly in response to these efforts, the Food and Drug Administration adopted a new policy on June 22. It issued a proposal that would require prominent labeling of percentages of "those ingredients which have a material bearing on price or consumer acceptance."

It also proposed that common names of food products accurately reflect contents. As an example, a seafood mixture which is predominantly shrimp should be labeled shrimp cocktail and have the shrimp portion labeled in percentage terms.

The new policy is designed not only to give buyers more information but to simplify the government's role. If the FDA proposals are finally adopted, the standard-setting process would be greatly simplified and shortened.

BUT CONSIDERABLE opposition is likely to arise in some segments of the food industry, particularly meat processors who may not like to reveal the relatively small proportions of meat in combination products.

At a House hearing a few years ago, test results from the U.S. Department of Agriculture showed only 15 to 16 per cent meat in beef stew, less than 10 per cent meat in noodles and chicken, and 8 to 9 per cent meat in spaghetti and meat ball products.

Over the years, the proportion of fruits and vegetables to juices and water has dropped in many cases. USDA tests reported at the same hearing showed only 55 per cent pears in canned pear halves, only 58 per cent grapefruit in the canned

A Look At 'Political' Marriages

Abigail McCarthy, who was separated from Sen. Eugene McCarthy in 1969 after 24 years of marriage, does not agree that political marriages bear the heaviest burdens.

In an interview with Women's Year Daily about the recent spate of breakups in politicians' marriages, Mrs. McCarthy agreed that political marriages have their own stresses, but, she said, a political union is really no more difficult than a diplomatic, medical, business or military marriage.

"And its problems are not new ones. There have been lots of divorces over the years," she said. "I think many of the political divorces now are occurring between people who haven't been in the political life all that long, and their marriages probably would have had trouble anyway."

She said that her own marriage split because of "the horrendous strains of the 1968 campaign" in which private and public life for the McCarthys became highly separate.

"We were no longer able to do everything together. We went in different directions. I will say that I think the demands made on political personalities are excessive. They are made to feel they must always act ideally. They must never express impatience or irritability. They must always be pleasant," Mrs. McCarthy said.

"Then there are the long sessions of Congress. It almost never adjourns, and we still haven't solved the fact that no one can have a 24-hour career 365 days a week."

Abigail McCarthy blamed the recent high number of political splits as a reflection of American society.

"This society puts a terrible strain on the male as a 'super achiever.' It's the idea of success at all costs that hurts the family. It's also the fact that our culture is hostile to the idea of monogamy."

"... I know that the ideal of monogamy is hard to maintain, and when a community no longer supports it, it is impossible. A community must support monogamy for it to work."

Speaking of ideal marriage, she said, "I think it's one that you must continually work at, adjusting to changes and communicating about them."

"But we've come to the point where society must seriously consider whether the family is worth preserving."

San Rafael's Miss Bush Is Married

Judges' chambers at Marin Civic Center were the setting for the June 23 marriage of Sandra Claire Bush to Darryl Wesley Grewell, both of San Rafael.

Attendants at the wedding were Kathi Ludwig of Yuba City as maid of honor and Mrs. Christopher Neibert of San Rafael as bridesmaid.

Christopher Neibert served as best man. The reception was held the following day at the couple's home in San Rafael.

The couple are living in San Rafael and plan to take a wedding trip in August.

Sandra, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Bush of San Diego, graduated from Cubberly High School in Palo Alto and California State University, Hayward. She is a pharmacy technician at Marin General Hospital.

Sandra is the sister of Grant Bush of Victoria, B.C., and Kenneth Bush of Potomac, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Grewell of Fresno are parents of the bridegroom. Darryl graduated from Clovis High School and Fresno State College and received a secondary teaching credential from California State College, Hayward. He is a mathematics teacher at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Action On 'Privilege' Bill Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sponsors of a "newsmen's privilege" bill urged today early congressional action on the measure in the wake of the Supreme Court's ruling affecting a reporter's right to keep his news sources confidential.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid, D-N.Y., former editor and publisher of the defunct New York Herald-Tribune, urged the House Judiciary Committee to act promptly on the measure which he and 50 other House members introduced in January, 1971.

The bill would prohibit courts or federal agencies from requiring a newsmen to disclose confidential information or the source of that information, which the Supreme Court said last week was not protected by First Amendment free press rights.

Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Ohio, a cosponsor, cited the court's majority opinion that said "Congress has freedom to determine whether a statutory newsmen's privilege is necessary and desirable and to fashion standards and rules as narrow or as broad as deemed necessary."

Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., another cosponsor, also urged early congressional action on the bill and said he would also ask the Democratic National Convention to include a statement in the party's platform on newsmen's privileges.

Explosives Seized; An Anti-Castro Plot

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Federal agents seized seven tons of explosives aboard an airliner and arrested nine men in what the Justice Department said Sunday was a plot to smuggle guns and explosives to Cuba for an attempted overthrow of the Castro regime.

The men were arrested in New Orleans, Shreveport, La., and Eagle Pass, Tex. The explosives were found aboard a DC4 in Shreveport bound for a secret landing strip in Vera Cruz, Mexico, the first stopover on their way to Cuba.

Special agent Michael B. Pollack of the Justice Department's New York strike force said federal authorities had for months been monitoring negotiations for an arms shipment from the United States to Mexico.

Pollack said negotiations were for eventual shipment of some 5,000 weapons, including M16 and M1 rifles, "RB" type rifles and Thompson submachine guns, to Vera Cruz for movement "presumably to Cuba."

He theorized the reason the guns were not among the shipment seized at Shreveport was because they were in the process of being converted for use as automatic weapons at a plant in Newark, N.J. He said the weapons were also destined for Vera Cruz after conversion.

The nine suspects arrested were Murray Kessler of Brooklyn; Adler B. Seal, James M. Miller Jr. and Joseph Mazzuba of Baton Rouge, La.; Arthur Henry Lussier of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Marion Hagler and

TV REVIEW

A Special To Honor Lyricist

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Some lovely, lively and enduring American music will be presented on television tonight, the eve of July 4, when CBS-TV offers an hour special entitled "Salute to a Cockeyed Optimist: Oscar Hammerstein II."

The tribute, filled with show business stars, is notable not only because it honors the late lyricist who collaborated with such composers as Richard Rodgers, Jerome Kern and Sigmund Romberg, but also because it illuminates the hopeful spirit that guided his life and words.

And, with this illumination, it indicates why his simple, direct, often sentimental lyrics captured the hearts of Americans and made him a beloved figure even to many hardened theatrical types known to admire more superficially glittering artists.

Thus tonight's hour, in addition to its value as pure pleasure, is also a sound statement that helps explain, through his music, Hammerstein's unique legacy and his secure niche in the history of American entertainment.

His remarkable list of hit shows included, of course, "Oklahoma," "South Pacific," "Carousel," "The King and I," "Show Boat," "The Sound of Music" and "Flower Drum Song." Just as remarkable is that many of his songs remain pertinent and spirited, and that the words can still be called up from memory.

The salute tonight, screened in advance for critics—which is CBS-TV's usual procedure—is by no means an extravaganza-type outing. The various star-hosts offer some remarks about Hammerstein. The numbers are introduced simply. And the singers just come out and sing, concert-style, with no razzmatazz production gimmicks or other dazzling distractions. It is an approach that suits the work and tone of the man being honored.

And for viewers who are used to jazzy video techniques employed to cover up low-level entertainment, it is a lesson in what you don't have to do if the material is there, and the production people and performers understand what to do with it.

The material tonight includes such Hammerstein songs as "Oh, What A Beautiful Morning," "Surrey with the Fringe On Top," "If I Loved You," "It Might as Well Be Spring," "The Last Time I Saw Paris" and "Ol' Man River." And among the knowing performers are Dinah Shore, Miyoshi Umeki, Leslie Uggams, Janet Blair, Harve Presnell, Celeste Holm, John Raitt, Jean Fenn, Ray Walston, Ricardo Montalban, Helen Hayes, Burt Lancaster and Milton Berle. In the chorus for one number, meanwhile, are Yaphet Kotto, Robert Stack, Ryan O'Neal, Larry Hagman and Desi Arnaz Jr.

Hosts for the hour include Gene Kelly, Rosalind Russell, Henry Fonda, Eddie Albert, Robert Young and Marlo Thomas.

There are some surprises in the hour, and probably the biggest one is Montalban, who, known chiefly as a straight actor, is splendid as he combines recitation with a bit of singing in his version of "It's a Puzzlement," a number Yul Brynner did so well in the stage and movie productions of "The King and I." Miss Hayes and Lancaster also do recitations of Hammerstein lyrics. And Miss Holm delightfully recreates a number that helped her to fame in the original Broadway production of "Oklahoma"—the droll "I Can't Say No."

It's Lucky when you live in the west.

Vigno Brother Charge Dropped

One San Rafael man has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a burglary charge, but charges against his brother were dismissed after a witness changed the story he had told police when he testified at a preliminary hearing.

Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court ruled there is enough evidence to try John Gregory Vigno, 20, on a charge of burglarizing the home of Dorothy Vanderhoof on Upper Road in Ross.

The judge said, meanwhile, there is insufficient evidence to link his 21-year-old brother, Ricci Lamar Vigno, to that burglary.

Neither was held on a charge of trying to take a television from the home of Anthony H. Rendina of 16 Iron Springs Road, Fairfax, after Rendina denied they had been burglarizing his home.

New Social Security Laws Due Airing

New laws on pensions and social security will be discussed at a meeting of Marin County Barracks 550, Veterans of World War I, and its auxiliary at 12:30 p.m. Thursday at rooms 254-55 at the Marin County Civic Center, according to barracks commander Lee A. Kentoski.

Refreshments will be served, Kentoski said.

DEATH SERIES — The death of a symbolic environment is part of an exhibit of interpretations on life and death by Catherine Merrill at Anima Mundi Gallery in Mill Valley. (Independent Journal photo)

ART REVIEW

A Purely Personal Approach Is Offered

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The inspiration causing an artist to create can be an intellectual as exploring plane geometry or as purely personal as, say, Catherine Merrill's ceramic sculpture.

Mrs. Merrill's largely figurative pieces — being shown through Aug. 12 at Anima Mundi in Mill Valley — are expressively drawn from her own immediate experience. Birth, death and rebirth are her recurring themes. And in their thickened, round-limbed, primitive way, these figures submit dramatically to these forces which assault them.

In the birth series, which covers everything from conception to motherhood, Mrs. Merrill has used the experience of her own pregnancy. She views it with an unusual awareness and describes it with a private but intriguing symbolism.

By the time of the birth itself, the figure in her theme has given way entirely to this symbolism. The base of this sculpture is a rippling flower with leaves scattered nearby. Above it hang a winged face of a crude angel and a root-like star.

This series also includes an unusual sculpture of a woman in a tub, the rough outside contrasting with a deep blue glaze bathing the inner walls and the figure reclining within them. And it also includes an attractive "Flower Tree" of diminishing stacked bowls colored with turquoise trickling over yellow and raw terra cotta.

Death in Mrs. Merrill's interpretations is as much the living as the final kind. In permanence, death is quiet, as is the "Dark Angel" watching over a prostrate form. In life, it is far from serene.

The divergent demands she experienced while living in a group situation is expressed in a pain-wracked figure fallen to its hands and knees, its back clutched by hideous, green, tarantula-like arachnids. Her husband's dream becomes, in the "Diver," a screaming darkened figure trapped inside a cage-like bell. And another coarse figure arches backward, its body stunned by nails and stab wounds.

Hollow, empty eyes stare from all these tragic beings which are haunted and haunting in their inescapable situations.

Others in the death concept include some darkly handsome "moon chalice" plus an ecological statement. The latter is presented as a column of pleading forms, half human and half shaped from nature, and completing the exhibit, which may be seen Tuesdays through Saturdays between 10:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., are several plates whose surfaces swim with moons rising through clouds, surging seas and navy skies.

Mother Calls Reunion With Daughter A 'Miracle'

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI) — It took 27 years for Mrs. Rosie Morita's "Miracle" — a reunion with her daughter who disappeared while an infant in war torn Germany.

Mrs. Morita, wounded while foraging for food in 1945, was unable to find her baby when she returned to a refugee camp near Passau.

The daughter, Elizabeth, grew up in Hungary and began hunting for her mother in 1966 after being informed by foster parents that she was an orphan.

Their lives, lived on separate sides of the globe, came together during the weekend in California.

"I thought she was dead, I couldn't dream," said Mrs. Morita, who operates a nursery in the San Francisco peninsula community with her husband Henry Morita, an ex-GI whom she married in Germany.

Big Broadway Houses Dark As Champs Leave

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Broadway theater district this blue Monday was like empty saddles in the old corral.

After long tenancies, there was no one home at the Broadway, Biltmore and Booth theaters, vacated during the week-end by, respectively, longrun champion "Fiddler on the Roof," "Hair" and "Butterflies Are Free."

Also, summer set in at the Winter Garden with the Saturday departure of "Follies," not in the longevity class of the foregoing trio but nevertheless a not-to-be-scorned 522 performance. It is still alive on tour, which cannot be said for the Broadway units of the others.

"Fiddler" waned at the Sunday matinee performance, number 3,242. The musical had set the Broadway long-run record with its 3,225th outing on June 17, supplanting "Life with Father."

It was no secret that "Fiddler," which so far has provided almost $8 million in profits split between producer Harold Prince and his backers, with much more to come in years ahead, had not been breaking even for many weeks, but Prince was determined—and could afford—to keep it going until the new record was set. There was no point to keeping it on any longer at a loss.

There was a capacity audience at the final "Fiddler" performance, with the SRO sign posted outside the theater, as it was so many times in the show's long run. The curtain calls were so numerous that the curtain technician almost became eligible for Social Security before his ordeal was over.

Four members of the cast that opened with the show on Broadway Sept. 22, 1964 were there at the signoff, including Paul Lipson. Lipson went from understudy for the leading role to play Teyve many more times than any of the numerous other Teyves here and abroad.

Composer Jerry Bock, lyricist Sheldon Harnick and librettist Joseph Stein were in the house for the finale.

"Fiddler" was not a landmark musical in the sense of innovation in one department or another. But it did get universal acceptance of its very human story that transcended the fact that it was about a poor Jew in Czarist Russia at the turn of the century. A musical "Everyman,"

"Hair," which closed out a 1,758th performance Broadway career Saturday night, was innovative. It made the so-called rock musical respectable, and it introduced nudity to the Broadway stage.

The thing that will be most remembered about "Hair," however, is that it established Galt McDermott as a composer of distinction. He is much more than the "rocker" who can manage a couple of chords on a guitar and turn out what is supposed to be a show score.

McDermott is a versatile, sophisticated composer who followed "Hair" with the current

Innocent Plea To Hit-Run Driving

A convicted murderer released from prison in December has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to two counts of hit-and-run driving.

Preliminary hearing for William Marion Lawson, 36, of San Francisco, was scheduled for July 11.

Lawson was arrested last Tuesday by the California Highway Patrol after an investigation of case the previous Friday and Saturday in the Mill Valley area in which an auto injured pedestrians walking on the shoulders of roads.

Lawson was in prison from February 1967 to December on a murder conviction and is now on parole.

Jaycee President Is Not Steele

James I. Steele, accused of felony drunken driving, is not president of the San Rafael Jaycees as reported in Friday's Independent-Journal.

Steele left office in May, but remains a member of the club. He has been bound over to superior court on the charge.

Six Priests In Buffalo Sanctioned

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Six Roman Catholic priests in the Diocese of Buffalo have been relieved of their religious duties, and at least two of them contend that the action was taken because of their political and social action.

The priests were told they could no longer celebrate mass, administer the sacraments or preach in notes by the Most Rev. James A. McNulty, bishop of the diocese. They remain in the priesthood, however.

One of the priests said he had been celebrating mass and performing marriages outside the established church. He said he would continue to do so, despite the action.

The diocese would not comment on the reasons for the action.

A priest in the group, the Rev. James F. Mang, said he knew McNulty had not been pleased with his work in peace and justice activities.

Mang was arrested and fined in Washington May 17 for participating in a demonstration in protest of Senate action on a bill to cut off funds for the Vietnam war.

"I have had conversations and correspondence with the bishop about my activities," Mang said. "I know, however, that he has not been pleased with my activity in peace and justice programs."

The Rev. William G. Warthling contended he began having trouble with McNulty in 1968, when he refused to accept a transfer from a predominantly black inner-city church.

At the time, supporters of Warthling staged a demonstration outside the bishop's home.

"I am a priest. I intend to continue functioning as a priest," Warthling said. He said he would continue to teach and work in the core area, and continue his priestly functions outside the established church.

U.S. Savings Bond Purchases Increase

Marin County residents purchased U.S. savings bonds worth $164,812 in May, an increase of $10,534 over May 1971.

Sales in California in May totaled $34,348,827, some $3 million more than the same period last year.

Horseshoes First, Then Serious Larkspur Meeting

A shorthanded Larkspur City Council will tackle a relatively light meeting agenda at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Mayor William G. Fleckles will be away on business, and Councilman Neil R. Brixon may also be absent, and whether the other councilmen survive the annual July 4 horseshoe pitching duel with Corte Madera's town fathers will be known until tomorrow.

Contrary to earlier rumors, Councilman Joan Sestak expects to be in there

Ross Board Sets Election Of Officers

Ross School District trustees will elect officers at a meeting Thursday at 7:45 p.m. in the Ross School Library.

The trustees are scheduled to adopt the proposed $565,920 "publication budget" for 1972-73. The budget has been approved by the county superintendent's office.

Final adoption of the school district budget is set for a public hearing Aug. 7. Supt. Thomas A. Anderson will recommend that a teacher be hired to fill a vacancy in the district's kindergarten staff.

pitching against the Corte Madera all-male council. Reports that ex-councilman Earl J. O'Grady would substitute for her proved a distortion; he has been recruited to substitute for Fleckles.

On the serious side, the Larkspur council will introduce amendments to the city grading ordinance, and consider adopting the heritage tree ordinance aimed at preserving spectacular or historic trees on private property.

A change in city license fees also will be introduced.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst will report on bid openings for the Doherty Drive trunk sewer construction job and the council probably will award a contract to the low bidder.

Hearing will be held on the Marin Independent Service Station Association protest against a use permit granted by the city planning commission, for a service station and car wash at 2066 Redwood Highway.

The council also will hear landowner Peter J. Wikel's request that the city abandon an unused portion of Myrtle Avenue.

The council has yet to complete action on the city's proposed park and recreation budget, but has decided to wait until the full council will be available later this month.

Chase Ends In Richmond

A Mendocino County man, suspected of holding up a grocery clerk in San Rafael, was arrested early yesterday in Richmond after being chased there by San Rafael police.

Francis James Mayer, 24, of Talmage was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of armed robbery and possession of dangerous drugs. He was held in lieu of $10,000 bail and was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police reports, a man wielding a .22-caliber revolver entered the Short Stop Market at 141 Bellam Boulevard about 5:40 a.m. He forced a clerk to give him money from the cash register and two packs of cigarettes, police said.

The clerk, Steven A. McBride, called police and said that the man was east-bound on Highway 17 in a 1965 Ford Mustang. Police stopped the car in Richmond after a chase across the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Police said they found a pistol and a sack containing $81 and one pack of cigarettes under the front seat. They also said they found a vial of white pills in Mayer's pocket.

Mayer had been living with a friend at 215 D Street, San Rafael, for the past several days, police said.

Security Lifted At Civic Center

Tight security at the Marin Civic Center was eased today ending more than 20 months of mechanical surveillance of those entering the Administration Building and the Hall of Justice.

Removal of the entrance check points and their mechanical "beeper" devices brought a generally favorable reaction from employees, some of whom were caught a little off guard.

Barbara Dunphy, a secretary in the planning department, said the wide-open main entrance to the administration building "kind of unearthed me."

"It was a nice shock though," she said, adding she thought it would be months before the check points would actually be removed as ordered two weeks ago by the county Board of Supervisors.

"I think it's great," added her boss, assistant planning Director Harvey Bragdon, who went to work for the county about the time that security was imposed, following the October 1970 bombing of the Hall of Justice.

County Adm. John F. Barrows, who has long opposed the checkpoints, said today, "he was enjoying the freedom of entering the building without the inconvenience of being stopped by guards."

"For someone who has been working on this (relaxed security) for a long time, I guess my reaction could be predicted," he said.

Other reactions today ranged from "I felt like I was naked," "I kept thinking I was going to trip or something to... It was a great feeling."

Elimination of the check points was approved by the board during recent budget session and is expected to save tax payers about $100,000 next year.

At the urging of county judges who have opposed any reductions, the board voted however to temporarily reestablish entrance checkpoints whenever "sensitive trials" are in session.

Sensitive trials have been loosely defined as those involving San Quentin inmates standing trial for serious crimes and other cases which draw large crowds.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said today that he expects one such case to be in court later this month, involving six San Quentin inmates accused of murder during an abortive escape try last August.

While security checkpoints have been eliminated full time, other security measures such as roving patrols will remain in force with staff of about 11 sheriff's deputies.

McGovern's Wife Sees Support

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Eleanor McGovern said today that she is certain Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will throw his support behind her husband, Sen. George S. McGovern for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"He has done everything short of a formal endorsement," said Mrs. McGovern. She said Kennedy also says "every member" of the Kennedy family is behind McGovern.

In an interview, Mrs. McGovern came through as a leader in a new breed of politician's wives and potential first ladies. She speaks out on candidates and the issues and she strikes out on the campaign trail alone.

She doesn't mind saying that she is "disappointed" in Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., for his role in helping to split the 271-member California delegation.

Barely five feet tall, the blue-eyed Mrs. McGovern, 50 is fighting a losing battle to get her weight back up to 100 pounds. But she displays stamina and determination in her commitment to her husband's political future.

"I'm just running in support of my husband," she said as she settled down in a sofa in her Japanese-style home in a fashionable part of Washington. She wore white slacks and an electric blue overblouse. Her hair, blonde with gray highlights, framed her round face. She was relaxed despite the days of living in a political pressure cooker.

When she is campaigning, children, clothes, hairstyles and food are put aside for the questions of Vietnam, the Middle East, Social Security and drugs.

"He gives me a great deal of freedom," she said. "He doesn't check on what I say. He has great confidence in me. The (McGovern) election committee sends me the latest position papers. Maybe we have ESP. So far I don't think I've made any great goof."

She said she gets nervous before a speech or a public appearance, but not while she is speaking.

Why does she want to be first lady? "Because it would mean my husband is President. I think he's needed. I think it's a marvelous forum for espousing causes. I hope to write and to focus on children...all realms, physical, emotional, spiritual, to enrich their environment...as a preventive thing."

She said that her "modern" favorite first ladies have been Eleanor Roosevelt and Lady Bird Johnson. Out of the history books, she picks Abigail Adams.

As for her involvement in her husband's career, she says: "I haven't been a pusher. He hasn't needed that. He's been his own inspiration. I have been supportive. I believed in him."

She describes as "ridiculous" those who pin a "radical" label on her husband. "I think my husband is a 'Centrist' because the things he is promoting are things people want. I fear for this country if the needs are not met. So many people feel alienated. They feel the government can't be trusted. So many people feel they are paying an unfair share of the taxes."

The McGovern learned firsthand about the drug problem in 1968 when one of their daughters was arrested for possession of marijuana. The charges were dropped because of legal technicalities and she said it has "had a happy ending." She Like her husband, she is against a criminal charge for users of marijuana but believes sellers should be prosecuted. She does not favor legalization of marijuana "until we know more about it."

Born on a farm near Woonsocket, S.D., she has an identical twin sister, Ila Pennington, and a younger sister, Phyllis Steichen. She attended Dakota Wesleyan University in Mitchell, where she met her husband.

The McGoverns were married in 1943 in Woonsocket Methodist Church in a ceremony performed by the senator's late father, an ordained minister.

They have five children Ann (Mrs. Wilbur) Mead, 27; Susa (Mrs. James) Rowen, 26; Theresa, 23; Steven, 19 and Mary, 17.

They also have three grandchildren, Timothy and Kevin Mead, 2 years old and, three weeks old, respectively; and Matthew Rowen, 3 months.

Mrs. McGovern says she used to like to cook and to sew but has not done much of that lately. She doesn't smoke or swear, but adds "when I get angry enough. I have a lot of things to say. I'm far from a perfect human being."

She also said: "The United States should get out of Vietnam immediately. It's a tragic blot on America today. I doubt anyone would make a decision to go in today."

Abortion is a matter that is up to the states.

Public figures have a right to a private life. But it is also "important to know a candidate as a human being."

Her husband "represents hope for youth. He knows how to talk to them. He listens to them."

Charisma: "I don't think he lacks it. I never thought of candidates in terms of charisma. I think of what they have to say."

"My husband has the strength and courage necessary to be president. He has marvelous trust in the American people."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Long Motor Trips With Children Require Use Of Child Psychology

Long motor trips with children require an understanding of child psychology. To begin with, most youngsters have no interest in scenery, historic markers, or the fresh country air. A car is a way to get there — the sooner, the better. Furthermore, back seats are wonderful for roughhousing or napping.

The small fry are restless travelers and tire easily unless their minds are kept occupied. Dole out a few picture or comic books and they will sit quietly until the contents are digested. Then play one of the driving games to pass the time. Spotting birds and animals is popular; those sitting on the right side of the car watch their side of the road, and those on the left, theirs. Chickens can count for one point, pigs two, cows three, and horses four. Each family can make up its own rules, but this is the general idea.

CHOKING SENSATION
Mrs. C. writes: My 14-year-old daughter complains of a choking sensation when she ties a scarf around her neck. High-necked blouses and sweaters also bother her. What can you suggest about this annoying condition?

REPLY
Let her alone. She can live without a tight scarf or high-necked garments. Perhaps she has a phobia about choking.

ANOTHER PASTIME is to identify state license plates or automobile makes. Children learning to read are thrilled when they recognize familiar words on billboards. Singing and nursery rhymes often entertain the whole family.

Don't neglect the youngsters' bodily needs. Children tend to be too excited to eat a leisurely breakfast before starting out the first day. However, they get hungry after the novelty of the first 100 miles has passed. Mother should be prepared with a picnic lunch; fresh fruit, cookies, or rolls are easily obtained on the road.

Feed carrots and celery sticks can be munching to keep the tykes from getting rebellious, restless, or hungry. Dried figs, apples, and apricots serve the same purpose.

DRESS the children in cool, easily washed clothing, such as shorts or bluejeans. Keep a few pillows in the back seat to encourage resting. Get out and stretch every few hours. Tots can't sit too long without getting the fidgets. Stop driving by 4 or 5 p.m. Children rarely can take more than 300 to 400 miles of traveling daily.

BLOOD TONICS
E. H. writes: Do tonics to build up the blood help or are they a waste of money?

REPLY
A waste of money. In the first place, if anemia is present, you want to know it and the best remedy is a standard iron, liver, or vitamin B12 product. If it does not exist, a general tonic does no good except psychologically. On the other hand, victims of anemia who rely upon a tonic are running the risk of masking the true cause of the blood condition. For example, pernicious anemia suffers may develop paralysis because the tonic might have pepped them up, but did not provide enough vitamin B12 to prevent involvement of the nervous system.

MILK AND PRESSURE
S. G. writes: Will drinking milk lead to high blood pressure in the aged?

REPLY
No. Milk has no effect on the blood pressure.

INFECTION AND THE THYROID
F. M. writes: Can a cold make an overactive thyroid more active?

REPLY
Fever might aggravate the thyroid disorder.

CHOKING SENSATION
Mrs. C. writes: My 14-year-old daughter complains of a choking sensation when she ties a scarf around her neck. High-necked blouses and sweaters also bother her. What can you suggest about this annoying condition?

REPLY
Let her alone. She can live without a tight scarf or high-necked garments. Perhaps she has a phobia about choking.

ANOTHER PASTIME is to identify state license plates or automobile makes. Children learning to read are thrilled when they recognize familiar words on billboards. Singing and nursery rhymes often entertain the whole family.

HELLO THERE LITTLE DOGGY

When you're two years old and this absolutely enormous Great Dane called Harley trots past the only thing to do is freeze and pretend you're not really there — which is what Todd Keller of Fairfax did yesterday at the Kentfield crafts and open market fair. Low key entertainment and dozens of booths offering handmade items made for a quiet and colorful browse-around for hundreds of weekend visitors.

Sling Race Win By Elms

BELVEDERE, Calif. (UPI)—Earl Elms of San Diego, Calif., steered his yacht expertly in an 18-knot breeze Sunday to win the third race of the U.S. Olympic yachting team trials on San Francisco Bay.

The 32-year-old former snipe world champion bested a fleet of 34 yachts in a relatively moderate breeze over the 11-mile Berkeley Olympic circle to move into second place in the point standings with four races remaining.

Bruce Goldsmith of Winnetka, Ill., who finished fifth Sunday, tops the yachtsmen with 15.7 points after three races. Elms has 17.4 points. Following in order were Lowell North of San Diego with 20 points, John Dane of New Orleans with 25.4, Warwick Tompkins, Mill Valley, 26, and Bob Johnson, Chicago, 30.

Elms, a member of the Mission Bay Yacht Club, worked with a crew of Randy McLaren and George Twist. His victory moved him up from fourth to second place in the overall standings.

Bud Melges of Zenda, Wis., rallied from a dismasting Saturday to finish second Sunday, only 39 seconds behind Elms. Melges fought a see-saw battle with Dane, Tompkins and Goldsmith. Dane finished third and Tompkins fourth.

North's eighth-place finish helped move him into third place in the series.

The race began with all 34 boats exactly on the starting line. The weather was nearly perfect in contrast to Saturday's 30-knot breeze that dismasted Melges' boat and helped sink a yacht belonging to Maurice Rattray of Seattle, Wash.

Attempts to raise Rattray's boat from 12 feet of water failed Sunday but a second attempt was to be made today.

Bruce Goldsmith, Winnetka, Ill. 13.5, 15.7 points; Earl Elms, San Diego, 34.1, 17.4; Lowell North, San Diego, 23.8, 20; John Dane, New Orleans 6.4, 25.4; Warwick Tompkins, Mill Valley, 4.4, 26; Robert Johnson, Wilmette, Ill., 11.7, 30; Sam Merrick, Washington, D.C., 8.9, 41; Bud Melges, Zenda, Wis., 5 DNF, 2, 36; Jim DeWitt, Richmond, 17.1, 11, 57; Richard Stearns, Chicago, DNF-9.6, 60.7.

SAILING ON — Mill Valley's Warwick Tompkins (74) sailed Saturday enroute to a fourth-place finish during the U.S. Olympic soling class yacht team trials on San Francisco Bay. The San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere-hosted event found Tompkins fifth out of 34 in the overall standings with 26 points. Leader Bruce Goldsmith of Winnetka, Ill. has 15.7 points with four in the seven paces remaining.

Giants Beat Dodgers, 9-3

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants has regained his position as one of the most feared hitters in the National League.

Just ask pitcher Don Sutton of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Sutton was the victim of a record-tying grand slam homer by McCovey as the Giants destroyed the Dodgers 9-3 at Candlestick Park Sunday.

McCovey's grand slam was the 14th of his big league career, tying him with Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves and the late Gil Hodges for the all-time National League lead.

"That's pretty good company to be in," McCovey said. "I knew it was gone as soon as I hit it. I hit the stuffing out of it."

The homer was to left field, the opposite way most McCovey homers go.

"I wasn't thinking about hitting a homer because I had two strikes on me," McCovey said. "I just was looking for a pitch to hit."

McCovey feels he's a better See GIANTS, page 26

OLYMPIC TRIALS

Seagren Mark In Pole Vault

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—A few years back after he cleared 17 feet in the pole vault for the first time, Bob Seagren predicted 18 feet was a strong possibility.

And now that he has cleared 18 feet, and in fact 18-5 3/4 for another world record at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials, Bob says a 19-foot vault is imminent.

Seagren took the world record to within six inches of 19 feet under near-perfect weather conditions Sunday as America's track stars continued to shatter old standards and threaten others in a smashing prelude to the Munich Olympics later this summer.

Seagren, who aspires to an acting career, was emotionally spent from his record performance but he did a good job of masking his feelings.

CHAMPION

"I'll tell you," said the handsome 1968 Olympic champion, "this has been an emotional day. I'm unbelievably tired, simply drained and this won't all sink in for a while."

The 25-year-old six-footer from Monterey Park, Calif., then collected himself and talked about the possibility of a 19-foot vault.

"I honestly don't think my record will last long," he said. "A 19-foot vault is near. I think I could have had a good chance at it this time, if the competition hadn't lasted so long and it had been earlier in the day."

SIX LEAPS

Seagren took only six leaps all day. He passed at two lower heights and then went over on the first try at 17-4 3/4, 17-8 1/2 and 18-1 1/2. He missed twice at 18-5 3/4, and then made it on the third try for the record.

"I felt good despite the emotional factor," said Seagren, "but in this sort of competition it's important to make it over on the first try. Still on my record try, I didn't have one of my better vaults."

"I didn't have good speed but I got a good pole plant. Then I started losing momentum as I got close to the bar but somehow found it again with a second effort. I think I brushed the bar with my arm but it stayed up there."

OLD MARK

Seagren and Kjell Isaksson of Sweden shared the old mark at 18-4 1/4 set on May 23 in a special head-to-head tussle at El Paso, Tex.

Seagren said he plans to take things easy for a while and then pick up the pace again leading to the Munich Games in late August.

Nothing, they say, repeats itself like history, and in Seagren's case it's a point well taken. Four years ago at the Olympic trials at South Lake Tahoe, Calif., Bob took the world record of 17-9 and then went to Mexico City and won the Olympic gold medal with a vault of 17-8 1/2.

"I hope it's a repeat," he smiled. "I couldn't ask for more." In the vault competition, Seagren, Steve Smith of Long Beach State, Jan Johnson of Alabama and Dave Roberts of the Amateur Athletic Union and National Collegiate Athletic Association champ, all cleared 17-8 1/2 and the bar was raised to 18-1 1/2. Johnson and Smith cleared it to become the fifth and sixth men in the world in the 18-foot club but Roberts failed and thus was left off the Olympic team.

The pole vault was by far the most exciting event on Sunday's five final-events show.

RALPH MANN

Ralph Mann, the former Brigham Young star, took second billing when he set an American record of 48.4 in winning the 400-meter hurdles. Richard Bruggeman of the Ohio Track Club was second in 48.6 and Jim Seymour of the Southern California Striders was third in 49.3 to also win Olympic berths.

2 Marin Olympic Walkers

I-J Special Report

EUGENE, Ore. — Two San Rafael High School teachers have walked their way to berths on the U.S. Olympic team which will be competing in Munich, Germany, starting next month.

Goetz Klopfer and Tom Dooley will be making repeat visits to the Olympics after finishing second and third behind Larry Young Saturday in the trials for the 20-kilometer walk. The track and field trials are being held on the University of Oregon campus.

Young, a bronze medal winner in the 50-kilometer walk at the 1968 Olympics, won Saturday's 20-kilo event with a time of one hour, 35 minutes and 56.4 seconds. Klopfer, who was 10th in the 1968 Olympics, followed at 1:38.03, and Dooley, also a member of the '68 U.S. Olympic team, was third at 1:39.10. All three made the 1972 U.S. team.

Narrowly missing a berth was another San Rafael High School teacher, Bill Ranney, like Klopfer and Dooley, representing the Athens Athletic Club. Ranney was fifth with a time of 1:41.35. Also trying unsuccessfully for Olympic spots at the trials were two other San Rafael walkers, Jerry Lansing and Steve Lund.

C.L. Moore Wins 6th Straight In Baseball, 10-4

C.L. Moore Knickerbockers of Novato won their sixth straight game and remained on top of the Sacramento Rural Baseball League yesterday by whipping Sacramento Falcons, 10-4, at William Land Park in Sacramento.

Hitting home runs for Novato, now 6-1, were right fielder Jerry Thompson, a three-run shot, and catcher John Sjoblom, a two-run blast.

Winning pitcher Len Hoffman struck out 13 men in the seven innings he pitched.

Alamedan In Golf Victory

Ashley Smith of Alameda won the championship flight of yesterday's sports celebrity golf tournament to help the Sickle Cell Anemia Research Foundation of the Bay Area.

The tournament, called the Jim Brown Celebrity tournament, was held at San Geronimo National golf course and autograph seekers had a field day.

Among the 115 participants were Jim Brown, Tim Brown, Cazzie Russell, Earl Edwards, Joe Perry, J. D. Smith, entertainer Frankie Laine, Gene Upshaw, Clem Daniels, Gene Washington, Vic Washington, Roland Lakes, Abe Woodson and Bay Area radio personalities Mike Cleary and John Hardy.

Results: Championship flight — Ashley Smith, 74; Stan Bovich, 75; Cassie Russell, 76; Jim Brown, 77.

Handicap flight — Charles Harrison, 78-12-66; J. D. Smith, 87-18-49; Bob Bell, 80-10-70; Manny Salangsang, 82-12-70.

Callaway flight — Don Barksdale, 94-24-70; Ray Hughes, 80-9-71; Al Meyers, 82-10-72.

San Anselmo Youth Baseball Tourney Set

Some 24 teams are expected to enter the San Anselmo Invitational Baseball Tournament, scheduled for July 22-30 at the city's Memorial Park.

Invitations have been sent out to numerous youth baseball teams in the Bay Area, from Sunnyvale to Santa Rosa. The first eight teams in each of three leagues to reply will be included.

The double-elimination tournament will involve players in the Minor League (10-12 years old), Major League (superior 11-12 year olds), and Senior (13-15).

McNulty Is Fourth

Pat McNulty, 16, of San Rafael, had third fastest time and finished fourth in the main event of the prestigious Western States Championship quarter-midget races Saturday in Sunnyvale.

Duncan At Defensive Back

Scott Duncan, if anybody remembers, is a very fine defensive back.

It's an easy fact to forget. People recall Duncan slashing around linemen and past linebackers with a football in his hands, leading the Marin County Athletic League in rushing last year as a senior for San Rafael High.

Duncan may be doing the same July 27, when he plays for the North team in the 21st annual Shrine North-South Football Game at the Los Angeles Coliseum. On the other hand, he may not. "They have six running backs, and only 25 players on the roster," said Duncan, "so they may try to put me on defense. I want to play offense, though, and I'll give it a go."

The 5-foot-10, 175-pound speedster was all-MCAL both ways last year. It would be ironic if his all-round skill kept him away from his first love, totting the ball.

Duncan has begun a conditioning program to prepare him for the game. "I've been getting up in the morning and doing some running," he said. "About three miles a day, three days a week. Pretty soon I'm going to start sprinting — running 100s and so on. I should be in good shape."

The jobs Duncan has had this summer have helped his conditioning. "I was working in a lumber yard before," he said, "carrying and stacking lumber, things like that. Now I'm working for a bottling company, carrying cases of syrup around."

Duncan and his North cohorts will report to camp at the University of Southern California July 14, and will train unabated until the game. "Jeff," as press releases for the game keep calling him (it's his actual first name), may show up for the game several pounds under his playing weight — the result of a haircut.

"They have some kind of a hair policy," said the back whose long hair was almost as celebrated as his long runs last year.

"Sideburns have to be to the bottom of the ears, and no mustaches. I'll abide by it, but I can't understand their reasoning."

Thus, any Marin County fans traveling to Los Angeles for the game are advised to buy programs and consult them frequently — otherwise, they'll never recognize the bald defensive back called Jeff.

Vida Blast At Angel Pitcher

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Vida Blue scored his first career victory over Clyde Wright Sunday night, and then continued his rivalry off the field.

"I can get psyched up for the Angels," Blue said, "but not for him (Wright). I can't believe how many wins he has with the stuff he has."

Staked to a two-run lead in the opening inning, Blue pitched a seven-hitter as the Oakland A's beat the Angels and Wright 3-1.

WRIGHT

"I don't think Wright was up for the game," the 1971 American League Cy Young Award winner continued. "He complained about every pitch. I guess that's because he doesn't give anyone credit for doing his job."

There was no hint what touched off Blue, who will be 23 this month and now is 2-4 after a 24-8 record a year ago. Maybe it was Wright's previous success against him.

RECORD

Wright took a 2-0 record against Blue—one win last season and one victory this year — into Sunday night's game.

In the battle of southpaws, Wright was tagged with his fourth loss against eight wins. He went the distance, giving up nine hits.

But Blue's win wasn't an artistic success. He walked five and twice had to pitch out of bases-loaded jams. The Angels stranded 10 men.

I GUESS

"I'll take a win any way I can get it," said baseball's most noted spring holdout. "I guess I relaxed too much out there. I had to work hard when I had men on base."

"It would be nice to see the season start over so I could have some spring training."

FIRST INNING

The A's won the game in the first inning on a triple by Joe Rudi, a double by Reggie Jackson and a single by Angel Mangual. Their third tally came in the third on a double by Rudi and Mike Epstein's second of three singles.

Wright scored the only California run. He opened the third with a walk, went to third on Sandy Alomar's single and came home on Andy Kosco's single.

Kayser Pastries Is Planning Another Shop In West Novato

Kayser Pastries of Northgate One shopping area in Terra Linda, which opened a doughnut shop in Rohnert Park three months ago, is planning another doughnut shop in Novato Square at Novato Boulevard and Wilson Avenue, West Novato.

Kurt Roesner of Loma Verde, owner of Kayser Pastries, said he hopes to open Kayser Doughnuts at Novato Square by the end of this year, although the construction timetable is not yet definite.

Roesner opened his pastry shop at Northgate One in 1965. In March this year, he opened Kayser Doughnuts in Rohnert Park at 101 Southwest Boulevard in Herrington Plaza.

BRUCE'S Reweaving and Custom Tailoring shop on the Miracle Mile in San Rafael has opened a women's dressmaking and alterations department under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret Derr, a specialist in women's wear.

Bruce Cooper, owner of the shop, leased 400 square feet of new space in the Miracle Mile Plaza at 2046 Fourth Street for the expansion. Realtor Herman Deitch negotiated the lease for Cooper.

Bruce's also handles furniture upholstery and rug reweaving jobs such as cigarette burns for individuals as well as furniture stores. Store hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and evenings by appointment.

W. ERNEST WILLIS of San Francisco, a consulting engineer, has been named director of research for Fiber Stress Inc., a Petaluma-based manufacturer of lightweight travel trailers and other plastic products.

Fiber Stress Inc. was founded this year by five Marin businessmen headed by President Stuart Purvis of Corte Madera.

They've even got the "Faded-out Denim" which is guaranteed to fade with each washing. Quite a change from the old days when they were "guaranteed not to fade or shrink."

Good Vi's is the only Marin shop that deals exclusively in Levis.

ARLINE R. TUROFF of 58 Roundtree Boulevard, Marin-wood, is the first and only woman sales representative in California for Sentry Insurance Company. Operating from her home, Mrs. Turoff will serve all of Marin, providing coverage including commercial, automobile, home and life. The company, headquartered in Racine, Wis., has regional offices in Santa Barbara and a service office in San Francisco.

A Marin resident for 15 years, she was formerly an Allstate agent for three years and for the past four years, she worked with insurance brokers in San Francisco.

James R. Masson of Novato has been named assistant vice president-finance of American Building Maintenance Industries in San Francisco. Masson joined the company in 1962 as an accountant and has been assistant controller for the past eight years.

Masson will be responsible for auditing procedures in the ABMI subsidiary companies in the southern half of the United States. In addition, he will conduct acquisition studies and special projects for the parent company.

LEVI'S, in the old days, meant a single-color blue, with possibly some copper rivets to add sparkle to an all-denim background. But not any more.

Walk into Good Vi's all-Levi Panthous at Northgate Mall two doors away from Roos Atkins and you'll get an idea of the hundreds of colors and material now put out by Levi's for men, women and children.

Owners Robert J. Cordaro and R. David Muir of Larkspur have just expanded shelf space, adding more double-knit Levis and Levis For Gals.

Good Vi's is open seven days a week, and from July 10 will be open five nights a week. Monday through Friday, until 9:30 p.m. It will continue to be open Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Sundays from noon to 5 p.m.

Levi's that are drawing particular attention are double knits, brush denims (softer material), the jacket shirt, and Levi leathers. Levis For Gals, both pants and shirts including turtlenecks, are also popular.

Flood Victims Told Of Possible Lawsuit

NEW YORK (AP) — Pennsylvania insurance commissioner Herbert S. Denenberg suggests that flood victims in scores of communities in the East might consider suing their insurance agents and brokers for negligence.

"If agents want to assume the privileges and status of being professionals they must take the responsibility too," he said in an interview.

"As a lawyer," he said, "I think there is ample precedent to accuse them of negligence if they failed to tell their clients

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING Advice Is Against Sale Of Interpace

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Among other holdings I have 500 shares of Interpace (NYSE) common. Wouldn't it be wise to sell these and put the proceeds into the preferred?—T.M.

A. The convertible cumulative preferred of Interpace Corp. currently yields 6.5 per cent as compared with 4.3 per cent on the common. It is, however, presently selling at a 26 per cent premium over conversion value.

This relatively high figure reflects both the sharp drop in common following flat first quarter earnings and the interest rate floor inherent in the preferred shares. Earnings recovery over the balance of the year is probably since first quarter results reflected a month-long strike at one plant and the fuel strike in England which interrupted production at another.

Sales for the period were up a strong 14 per cent year to year. Recovery to the $2.20 level is anticipated for 1972, a probability which would improve common trading levels. While preferred shares would appreciate in relation to an uptrend in the common, the gain would undoubtedly be slower, reducing the premium on the preferred.

For this reason I would not recommend taking action at this time.

Q. I will shortly receive $45,000 which I wish to invest for safety and income. I really know nothing about investments and would appreciate any help you could give me.—B.M.

A. For your purpose, a portfolio of four good quality corporate bonds is indicated. At maturity these debt obligations are repaid at face value, usually $1,000 and multiples thereof. During the life of the bonds, which should be purchased in registered rather than coupon form, you will be paid interest semiannually.

Four attractive bonds are: Columbia Gas System 7 1/2 shares of 1997, Detroit Edison 6.4 shares of 1998, General Electric Credit 7 shares of 1979 and Northern Natural Gas 7 3/8 shares of 1992. Rated single A, three of these debt issues are trading close to par.

Detroit Edison, which carries a double A rating, is trading about 10 points below par value. This portfolio would return about 7.2 per cent or approximately $400 eight times annually.

Early Market Mixed Anticipating Holiday

NEW YORK (UPI) — With the Fourth of July holiday ahead, the stock market drifted in a mixed pattern during the first two hours today in slow trading.

Advances led declines, 603 to 451, among the 1,407 issues crossing the tape. The two-hour turnover amount to more than 3,100,000 shares. First-hour volume of 2,110,000 shares was the slowest since last Nov. 26.

Marcor was the most active issue, off 3-8 at 23 1/2 on 76,000 shares.

Prices were slightly higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Champion Home Builders, when issued, was the most active Amex isue, up 3-8 at 24 on volume of 42,300.

What pre-holiday activity there was on the New York Stock Exchange was centered in the glamors, electronics and computers.

Uphorn (ex-dividend) gained 2 5/8; Philip Morris and Corning Glass 1 1/4 apiece, and Bausch & Lomb 1. In the electronics and computers, IBM advanced 1 3/4, Honeywell 1 1/2.

Steels, motors, oils, rails, airlines and aircrafts were mixed in fractions.

Chemicals moved irregularly. Eastman Kodak gained 1 7/8.
